Senator Robert A. Taft In Coma, Failing Rapidly

Three Sons At Hospital With Father

New York (AP) — Sen. Taft is in a coma and is failing rapidly, New York Hospital reported late last night.

A 11 p.m. hospital bulletin gave no further details.

Three of the senator's sons were at the hospital, where their father earlier in the evening was reported critically ill.

Only yesterday morning the Ohio Republican party stalwart had sat

Sen. Robert A. Taft

up on his bed and chatted with callers.

At 3:30 p.m. he took his first turn for the worse.

Then at 6:15 p.m. the hospital said:

"Sen. Taft's condition is critical. This followed by two hours a bulletin saying the senator had taken another turn for the worse and was breathing 'with marked difficulty.'"

The 6:15 report was the first to refer to the senator's case in grave terms.

It followed a report by an Arizona newspaper publisher that the Ohio Republican "is dying of cancer of the blood."

The hospital consistently has refused to disclose the nature of Taft's illness. It first became apparent weeks ago with a lesion of the hip.

Publisher William R. Mathews of the Arizona Daily Star of Tucson, writing from Washington, said in a dispatch to his paper:

"Whereas originally he was expected to live for six months to a year, he is not expected to live for more than weeks at the most, and possibly days."

"The fact is generally known in Washington."

Mathews did not reveal the source of his information.

President Eisenhower concerned about Taft's condition, sent his personal physician flying here during the day to the bedside of the ailing senator.

The White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, found Taft sitting up in bed, climaxing a fairly active day in which the senator was reported alert and talkative.

But shortly after Snyder left to return to Washington, the hospital issued its latest bulletin two hours ahead of its regularly scheduled release time.

Military Reported Ruling In Russia

London (AP) — The London Evening News last night said "the real power in Russia has passed to a military triumvirate led by the famous wartime hero Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov" and including Marshals Vasilievsky and Sokolovskiy.

"This dramatic development," said the News, "has taken place—according to reports to Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill during the past few days—because Premier Georgi Malenkov, still faced with the opposition of strong pro-Beria elements has had to turn to professional marshals as the only force in Russia capable of maintaining his regime."

Large Number Of Red Planes Spotted Flying Into Korea In Violation Of Truce Pact

Munsan, Friday, (AP)—The Fifth Air Force spotted large numbers of Red planes flying into North Korea Monday night in violation of the armistice, but no Allied protest was on record today.

The Communists, on the other hand, have filed protests charging 10 Allied violations of the now deserted buffer zone which separates the United Nations Command and Red armies.

It was possible that the matter of the mass flight of planes—presumably MIG jets which never dared to base in North Korea during the war—might come up today.

The joint Military Armistice Commission, which enforces the truce, meets at Pannunjom.

Two other sessions were scheduled.

United Nations and Communist officers were meeting in the battle-scarred demilitarized strip in the first contact of joint observer teams which will patrol the zone. Their job is to see that both sides observe armistice terms along the 150-mile front.

London Strongly Opposes Dulles' Threat To Bolt Peace Talks If Reds Stall

London, (AP)—Britain served notice yesterday she strongly opposes any United States plan to walk out of the Korean peace talks without first consulting this country.

Prime Minister Churchill's top deputies told Parliament that Britain is "in no way committed" to any such unilateral American action.

Acting Prime Minister Richard A. Butler, speaking in the House of Commons for the ailing Churchill, said "I want to make it absolutely clear that we would expect definitely to be consulted before any such action was taken."

Angry Laborites raised the issue in attacking U. S. Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles told a Washington news conference Tuesday the United States would walk out of the post-armistice political conference on Korea after 90 days if it felt the Communists were deliberately stalling. He said the United States would not buy Korean unity at the price of Red Chinese membership in the U. N.

Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, the Laborite leader, described Dulles' statement as dangerous and contrary to U. N. principles.

Six Held As Communists

Philadelphia, (AP)—Lacking $175,000 in bail, six men identified by the FBI as among the top leadership of the Communist party here were held in Moyamensing Prison yesterday on charges of conspiring to teach or advocate the overthrow of the U. S. government.

The six were snapped up in a secretly launched and executed series of midnight raids. One, the FBI said, was picked up as he left a Communist cell meeting in a North Philadelphia home.

One of the men, Joseph Kuzma, 41, was identified as "leader of the local organization of the Communist party here" and was held in default of $50,000 bail. He formerly lived at Easton, Pa. Bail was set at $25,000 each for the others.

Agency Head Named

Washington (AP)—Theodore C. Stereblid, 33, New York radio executive, was chosen by President Eisenhower yesterday to head the reorganized overseas information agency.

History Will Cite Korea As Proving Ground Of Security

—by Richard R. Revere

(Mr. Revere, Washington correspondent for The New Yorker and contributing editor of Harper's Magazine, has written two books: "How & How: Their True and Scandalous History," and, in collaboration with Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., "The General and the President," which concerned Douglas MacArthur's recall from Korea two years ago.)

As the Korean war ends, the mood of most Americans is downcast and self-commiserating.

The armistice has been welcomed, but it has not been celebrated. There have been no demonstrations, no wild embracing in the streets. Sales of confetti and party-horns were no better than normal. For the average American, while he may not regard the Korean settlement as a defeat, it is unwilling to accept it as a victory. It is clear that the whole affair has filled him with shame and a sense of guilt.

Are the shame and guilt rational? History seems likely to say no.

It is a fact, of course, that we have failed to destroy or subdue our enemy. But that was not what we set out to do. We undertook, hesitantly at first, to help stop a particular violation of a particular boundary. Then, following our contribution of air and naval support with a commitment of ground forces, we took full responsibility for driving back the invaders, which is what we have done.

Nowhere in any declaration of the United States or the United Nations is there a definition of victory that is not fulfilled in the present settlement. Unification was never one of our military aims; indeed, we have always opposed unification of any country, Korea most specifically and explicitly included.

Russia Claims U. S. B-50 Flew Over Siberia

Moscow, Friday, (AP)—The Soviet government charged today that an American B50 flew over Siberia near Vladivostok and fired on a Soviet fighter plane which rose to intercept it.

A note delivered to the American Embassy here last night strongly protested an alleged violation of Soviet territory by the American plane.

The note claimed that the American plane—a four-engine B50—violated the Soviet frontier in the region of Vladivostok.

It said two Soviet fighters rose to intercept it and the American plane then opened fire.

It said the Soviet fighters then returned the American plane's fire and the American B50 disappeared in the direction of the sea.

The Soviet note demanded that the "guilty fliers" be called to account and demanded that the U. S. government see to it that such violations of the Soviet frontier do not occur in the future.

The incident is alleged to have taken place on July 29.

Pravda and Izvestia headlined the Soviet note.

U. S. Air Force Gen. O. P. Weyland said in Tokyo, "No American air plane has violated Soviet territory." He did not elaborate on his cryptic statement.

In Tokyo, the U. S. Air Force said it had abandoned search for 16 missing crewmen lost on the huge bomber when it went down off the coast of Siberia Wednesday. The 17th member of the crew was rescued by a destroyer yesterday within sight of the mountains of Siberia.

Specific Fleet Headquarters in Honolulu identified the rescued crewmen as 1st Lt. John Roche, but did not give his home town.

In Washington, the State Department said it had no comment on the Soviet protest. It did not know whether the note had been received.

Pastor Tangles With House Red Probers

Washington (AP)—A Methodist minister tangled angrily with the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday and swore that two men who accused him of having been a Communist are "liars and perjurers."

Rev. Jack Richard McMichael, 36-year-old pastor of a church at Upper Lake, Calif., told the committee he isn't a Communist now and never has been. He protested bitterly that the committee had circulated "false charges" against him without giving him an opportunity to be heard first.

McMichael did say that in 1941 he was chairman of the American Youth Congress—an organization cited as a Communist front by the House committee, several state committees and two attorneys general. But he insisted:

"This organization was not Communist dominated and I can prove it."

It was an uproarious, gavel-pounding session. Tempers were whetted to a fine edge. Everyone talked at once—and sometimes shouted.

Once Chairman Velde (R-Ill.) threatened to have the witness ejected from the room "if you make any further outbursts."

Boy Killed By Truck At Easton

Easton, (AP)—An ice truck yesterday struck and killed 4-year-old John J. Merritt.

Stanley Runyon, 27, of Washington, N. J., driver of the truck, was quoted by Patrolman William McCabe as saying the boy darted from the curb into the path of his truck.

Held For Hearing

Harrisburg, (AP)—Joseph Agostino, described by the Justice Department as a Harrisburg racketeer, was arrested yesterday on charges of entering this country illegally and was released in $2,000 bail for a deportation hearing.

Measure Approved

Washington (AP)—The Senate last night passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing development of mineral resources in the submerged lands of the outer continental shelf. The vote was 45-43.

JOHN B. AICHER (left) confers with Chief Clerk Harry Taylor at commissioners office yesterday over maps which will be needed to start work on the permanent land record system which will cost an estimated $75,000. Aicher was hired by commissioners as consulting engineer for the job. He will be in full charge. (Daily Record Photo)

Eisenhower Asks $15 Billion Increase In Debt Ceiling

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress yesterday for a $15 billion dollar hike in the federal debt limit in view of red-ink figures which he said have piled up despite "vigorous efforts to reduce expenditures."

The present limit, fixed by Congress in June, 1946, is 275 billion dollars. The debt is 272 1/2 billions.

Shortly before Eisenhower sent the formal request to Congress, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told newsmen that if the government failed to pay its bills and meet federal payrolls—under restrictions of the present debt limit—it might cause "near panic."

Eisenhower's 11th hour request threw congressional plans to adjourn this weekend into an uproar. There were some forecasts the adjournment plans would be delayed at least a week.

Grumbles of protest—both at the prospect of canceling vacation plans and at raising the debt lid to a point only 10 billion dollars below the World War II peak—arose from Democrats and Republicans alike on Capitol Hill.

While many Republicans have said the present fiscal situation is a heritage from the Roosevelt-Truman regimes, Democrats yesterday raised a cry of "waste" and accused the Eisenhower administration of staging a "political maneuver" by waiting until the eve of adjournment to spring its proposal.

There was some criticism of the administration from the Republican side also. On the House floor, Rep. Condit (R-NY) said the administration had put Congress in "a cruel and bitter dilemma" by failing to slash government spending so that an increase in the debt limit would not be necessary.

The result, he said, is a threat of "permanent inflation."

Driver Hindered By Boys Sticking Toes In His Ears

Long Beach, Calif., (AP)—The driver testified his car was weaving down the street because two boys in the back seat had stuck their toes in his ears.

A Municipal Court jury deliberated only 40 minutes before freeing Adam Thiele, 49, of a charge of drunk driving.

Thiele said that just before he was arrested last May 17, his son and a neighbor's boy had put their big toes in his ears and wiggled them.

Air Force Base Sought For Avoca

Hazleton, (AP)—The Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Commission asked a group of Pennsylvania engineers yesterday to urge Air Force consideration of Avoca, Pa., as the site for a 73 million dollar maintenance depot.

Commission President Victor C. Dittus told telegrams were sent to Sen. Edward Martin and James Duff and Reps. Joseph L. Carrigan, Edward J. Bonin, Ivor Fenton and Francis Walter — requesting that Air Force officials survey the site, which lies adjacent to the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton Municipal Airport.

The planned depot is expected to employ upwards of 8,000 workers.

Heads 40 & 8

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Ray D. Marshall of Shamokin yesterday was elected grand chief de gare of the Pennsylvania 40 & 8 Society, fun organization of the American Legion currently holding its annual convention.

Compromise Reached On Foreign Aid

Washington, (AP)—A compromise $6,632,427,390 foreign aid bill was worked out late last night by a Senate-House Conference Committee.

The total, including $4,530,437,999 in new cash and $2,101,964,391 in unobligated funds left over from previous appropriations for military and economic aid program, is $669,315,866 less than President Eisenhower asked.

The compromise measure, still subject to final action by the Senate and the House, is $155,734,211 more than the amount originally voted by the House but $97,893,812 less than the total the Senate had approved.

Car Inspection Deadline Set For Midnight

Harrisburg, (AP)—A last minute rush for automobile inspection stickers has exhausted the supply at numerous inspection stations, the State Revenue Department said yesterday.

Station operators who need additional stickers in a hurry may obtain them at the Bureau of Highway Safety Office, State Capitol, Secretary Otto F. Messner announced.

Tonight midnight is the deadline for having automobiles inspected in the current semi-annual period. Motorists without new stickers on their windshields by Saturday will be fined.

Messner announced earlier that he will not extend the inspection period deadline despite the sticker shortage in some locations.

Five Hurt In Motor Crash

Bushkill, (AP)—Five men were injured at 10:45 last night in a traffic accident three-quarters of a mile north of the traffic light here.

All of the injured were taken to Monroe County General Hospital. Report of their injuries or condition was not available early today.

The site of the accident was a two-lane stretch of Route 209 Milford State troopers investigated.

Hire Engineer To Supervise $75,000 Job

Work on a permanent record assessing system which will cost an estimated $75,000 was started yesterday in Monroe County.

The project will take up to three years to complete.

The decision to "go ahead" was made by Commissioners Amzi F. Altomose, W. Adolph Baker and Granville Shiffer.

They hired a consulting engineer to supervise and set up the entire system.

He is John Barron Aicher, 43, head of John B. Aicher Associates with offices in Allentown and Easton.

Aicher spent yesterday afternoon checking over maps in the courthouse. He plans to start actual work on the system about Sept. 1.

Meanwhile he will organize his personnel, and plan the steps of the project, order supplies, and equipment necessary to the job.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor said commissioners had not yet decided on a salary for Aicher. Nevertheless the hiring commitment is definite. The engineer will be a county employee.

His office will be at the Courthouse. The commissioners did not designate the exact spot yesterday.

Aicher, in his own words, proposes to: "Establish a complete permanent record system of maps, cards and indexes, also actual real property appraisals of Monroe County . . . in compliance with specific provisions of Act 294, adopted by the 1951 Legislature . . ."

Commissioners approached Aicher in regard to the assessment program job. Their first interview with him was last month. They have been a half dozen conference since that time, Taylor said.

Three local engineers and surveyors had been approached earlier. All had turned the job down because of prior commitments. These were County Engineer Edward C. Hess; Douglas W. Kitten, East Stroudsburg, and Leo A. Acherman Jr., Stroudsburg engineer.

Aicher went with commissioners on a recent trip to Bradford County. There he looked over Bradford's permanent record system, which was set up by county employees entirely.

According to Taylor, Bradford commissioners figure they've put about $45,000 into their system, which is now ready to operate. They cut costs by having the project supervised by their chief assessor, who is an engineer. Also, Bradford started working on its system back in 1943 and has been at it ever since.

The estimate of $75,000 is for the entire record system, complete and ready to operate, and includes both capital outlay for equipment and all labor, salary and miscellaneous expense.

Included under items of equipment which the county will purchase as part of the record system are, with estimated costs:

One—An addressograph with special attachments, which commissioners ordered yesterday at a price of about $6,500.

Two—Special enlarged maps, $3,000.

Three—Binders and cabinets for the maps, $2,600.

Four—Sanborn maps for the four boroughs, with cabinets to hold them, $600.

Five—Special forms, cards, printed matter, indexes, filing cabinets, $3,000.

An additional $6,000 has been estimated to cover omissions and contingencies.

The total for equipment and supplies amounts to an estimated $21,700.

The remaining $53,300 will cover labor and incidental expenses. Aicher in his report to commissioners estimated the labor needs as:

One—Himself, as consulting engineer in charge of the whole project.

Two—One part-time assistant for field work.

Truck Hits Boat At Shoreline

Salem, N. J., (AP)—A light truck driven by Thomas Weigel, 58, of Salem swerved off a highway yesterday and collided with a plywood boat tied up on the shore of the Salem River.

Weigel, a milk salesman, rubbed his eyes in disbelief when he saw what he had hit.

He explained to police later he must have dozed at the wheel. The truck stopped with its front wheels in the water.

Collapse Of Trestle Kills Four Workers, Injures Six

Monessen, AP—Rescue workers uncovered early yesterday the body of a fourth victim killed in the collapse of a railroad trestle at the Pittsburgh Steel Co. plant.

The body of Celeste Tretter, 67, of Monessen, was found 17 hours after the span gave way and sent three hopper cars loaded with limestone and iron ore plunging into workers sitting beneath eating lunch.

Others killed were Archie McCoy, 26, Monessen; Adolfo E. Arriagón, 62, Charleroi, and Francis Cowell, 31, of near Monessen.

Six injured workers, none critical, were held at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. Six other workmen were treated at the plant hospital for minor injuries.

The trestle collapsed with explosive suddenness as the workers sought relief from the heat by eating their lunches in the shade of the span.

As the structure tilted, some of the workers managed to scurry away from the shower of steel and steel-making materials.

The falling debris snapped a six-inch steam line with a loud report that at first made officials think there had been an explosion.

Some workers suffered burns from the steam. Others were list-

A picnic for employees of Art Metal Company's East Stroudsburg plant is scheduled for the CLU Park, Route 611 north of Stroudsburg on Saturday, August 15. Francis Daly, personnel manager, announced last night.

Daly said Tom Jenkinson has been named chairman for the affair being arranged by employees. The picnic begins at 10 a.m. and is slated to conclude at 5 p.m.

Other committee chairman include Kenneth Workheiser, transportation; Eugene Tierney, publicity; Robert Gallagher, sports and games; James Donovan, purchasing; George Andress, grounds; Peter Albertson, general service;

District Elks Meeting Sunday

Elks from the Northeast District of Pennsylvania, comprising 19 lodges from the Susquehanna to the Delaware Rivers and north to the Pennsylvania-New York State line are converging on Leighton Lodge of Elks Sunday for their quarterly meeting.

The imminence of the Pennsylvania Elks State Association convention at Harrisburg beginning on August 24 is being keynoted by the lodges of the Northeast District and discussion of convention details and solutions to the many scholarship problems will feature the Sunday meeting.

Northeast District President James Tolan of Mahanoy City, and the Leighton lodge have extended invitations to all Elks and their ladies in the district to attend this meeting.

Jean Possinger, first aid and George Court, prizes.

Reapportionment

For more than 20 years, the Legislatures of Pennsylvania openly and flagrantly flouted the Constitution their members are sworn to defend.

These Legislatures—all of them from 1931 on—failed to reapportion the districts from which the members of the House and Senate are elected. The Constitution says this must be done after each ten-year census.

The Legislatures haven't done that since 1921. And they got away with their defiance because there isn't any penalty, in this case, for violating the Constitution.

As a result, our legislators are elected from districts based on the 1920 census. This system of representation is neither fair nor constitutional and if anybody wanted to be technical about it, he could make out a pretty convincing case that the Legislature, itself, is an unconstitutional body.

House Republicans finally and belatedly passed a bill reapportioning the House seats. It was passed over the screaming protests of Democrats, who voted solidly against it on the ground it would gerrymander them out of 25 to 30 House seats.

As it passed the House the bill was imperfect since it left out several municipalities, but Senate corrections and amendments corrected all that.

This first attempt in many years on the part of the House to live up to the Constitution, certainly deserves commendation.

The measure is now a law. It was signed yesterday by Gov. John S. Fine who said it was "long-needed" and that "it fulfills a Republican platform promise."

As for the protests of the Democrats, they would come with better grace if the members of that party had made some attempt to offer a bill of their own, or to amend the bill sponsored by the Republicans. As far as the average voter is concerned, the 1921 apportionment is about as unfair as any other proposal.

Legislators don't like to reapportion their districts because some of them always get hurt in that process. It's easier to leave the districts the way they are, in which case nobody gets hurt except the voters, who are unevenly represented in the Legislature.

So, although the House Republicans voted a reapportionment bill, there was no similar action in the Senate, which could stand a thorough re-shuffling.

The record of the legislature on this issue in the past 22 years indicates pretty strongly that, if we are to get regular and complete reapportionment every ten years, we'll have to get some agency other than the Legislature to do it.

Look Before You Join

One of the favorite habits of Americans is to join something.

They'll belong to anything from the Ancient Order of Singing and Marching Amphibians or the After-Lunch Jolly Fellows Club to the Society for Prevention of Feeding Bottle Caps to Catfish.

In their anxiety to be do-gooders, many of them have been sucked into an assortment of rackets, mischief-making associations, one-man frauds and futile and ill-advised charities.

Nobody, in recent years, has made more of this American characteristic than the Communists and the fuzzy-minded stooges they are so fond of using.

We offer this comment in the light of the latest list of subversive organizations announced by Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

Look at some of the names of these outfits: Baltimore Forum, California Emergency Defense Committee, Chopin Cultural Center, Committee for Constitutional Freedom, Committee for World Friendship and Cultural Exchange, Jewish Cultural Society, National Committee for Freedom of the Press, Washington Committee to Defend the Bill of Rights.

The Commies dream 'em up by the dozens—all with fetching titles.

Recent and past hearings before congressional committees have shown how easy it is for thousands, including some of our best-known and so-called wiser citizens, to get themselves hornswoggled into a phony group.

Safest way to stay out of Mr. Brownell's files is to make sure when that friend buttonholes you with a joining proposition that, first, he is a friend, and that he knows what he's dragging you into.

MISSION ACHIEVED

G. I. beneath that small white cross

In far away Korea.

You ask, "What was my dying for?"

What was I doing here?"

You rate, kid, with the truly great.

By records well defined:

From Bethlehem to Panmun-jom

Few died for more for mankind.

It seemed a futile, baffling hour...

Then death so far away?

"What purpose was there in this thing?"

I think I hear you say:

But, kid, you stand among the dead.

Of whom the ages sing:

From Calvary to Porkchop Hill

Few died for greater things.

Just mud and rain and snow and ice

And misery it seemed...

A spell of horror in the night

Where hope so seldom shined;

But, kid, you shall a symbol be

To all those who are true

The man who died upon the cross

Walked that same road as you.

O boy, beneath the small white cross

We hear you cry, "What for?"

"What stupidity decreed this end?"

This was a snafu war!"

But, kid, you died to set men free.

To cut a slave's taut rope.

To strike the shackles from a leg

And bid a world, "Have hope!"

Some men get statues in a park.

Some live in verse and song.

Some get a bust in brass or clay

Where dust shall linger long;

But your reward is something fine—

It stirs and purifies

It is the light of gratitude

In weary children's eyes.

Oh, might you roam a field once more,

Your dog "Skip" at your side;

And visit that ol' swimmin' hole

Where memories abide;

And play on hometown hills

As yesterday you did...

And hear a Voice so few men hear

Say gently, "Well done, kid!"

U. S. Spending In Indo-China To Balance Savings In Korea

Washington — Congress is adjourning in a glum mood regarding Far Eastern affairs.

The hard-won Korean armistice will mean little, if any, savings for the U. S.

The urgent need for greatly increased military aid to the grimly pressed French in Indo-China will amount to virtually as big a financial burden as the cost of fighting in Korea.

American expenditures in the Indo-China war during this fiscal year will reach an all-time high of $1,200,000,000.

This is 20 percent more than the French propose to spend.

The six-year-old struggle against the Reds in the fabled jungles of Indo-China is now being waged almost entirely with U. S. weapons. On the ground and in the air, French and native forces are fighting with American guns, planes and munitions. The recent spectacular raids against key enemy depots were executed entirely with U. S. equipment. Without this expensive gear, these crippling blows could not have been struck.

By ship and air carriers large quantities of military supplies are being rushed to the French and Vietnamese in preparation for the resumption of large-scale Communist assaults by early September, when the rainy season ends.

It is definitely known the Red Vietnamese, armed and trained by China, are mounting a double-pronged offensive aimed at capturing Maoi, key stronghold on the northern coast, and overrunning Laos on the northeast border of Thailand. If this drive is successful, the Communist menace will be immeasurably increased throughout all of strategic Southeast Asia.

Gloomy Facts — The unannounced details of this somber situation were disclosed at a private conference on the battered foreign aid budget between congressional leaders and Pentagon and State Department officials.

Pleading against any further economy cutting, Major General George Stewart, director of military assistance, stressed the desperate need of the French in Indo-China. He declared that without maximum American help there is little likelihood of stopping the Reds.

"We believe this will be the decisive year in this protracted and crucial struggle," Stewart told the legislative leaders. "If the Reds can be effectively blocked there is reason to believe they may be willing to come to terms, as they have done in Korea. But the forthcoming fighting will be extremely violent and the outcome is highly uncertain. We can't afford to pull any punches in aiding the French."

George Sokolsky Says...

Herbert Hoover, At 79, Takes On Another Job—Organization Of Our Government

At 79, Herbert Hoover will undertake another great task, which he says will be his last. That is what he tells me every time he starts another job. As a matter of fact, he has never taken a day off in all the years I have known him, his Quaker training undoubtedly having impressed upon him the truism that idleness is a sin and that more people die of trying to prolong life by avoiding work than any other way.

When Herbert Hoover has no project in hand, he writes books and there are several in the works now. He does not permit old age to bother him and when nature asserts itself and some part of the human mechanism begins to show signs of wear and tear, he groans about the essential wickedness of the doctors who object to what he calls an old man's last comfort, a smoke.

After each annual check-up, he tells me that nothing wrong was found that troubled him any. He once said that if doctors worked over him and held a meeting and all they could come up with was a proposal that he reduce his intake of corn bread covered with a thick coating of butter and that he reduce his cigars, I used to assist him in the latter process by taking a goodly helping of his cigars, but I find now that one of his sons sweeps them before I do.

This is a vigorous old gentleman who is not afraid to die. He is only afraid of idleness, of sitting around doing no work, of wasting the late years of his life waiting for the inevitable. So, Herbert Hoover works as hard at 79 (he will be 79 on August 10) as he did when he was a young mining engineer in China, in Russia, or in Australia.

His new task is close to his heart. He does not call it reorganization but organization of the Executive branch of the government. He uses the word, organization, because that never happened to our government; it was not organized; it just grew. Bureau piled on bureau, agency on agency, duplication on duplication, with special interests exerting pressures and holders of office building personal empires.

The Civil Service, for instance, designed to keep politics to a minimum in administration, has actually become an agency of politics because of the folding of officeholders into the Civil Service by Presidential order without examination for fitness. Veterans' preference, designed to give those who fought in our wars equal opportunity with those who stayed home, has actually become a stumbling block to getting the fittest man for the job.

The first Hoover Commission, appointed by President Truman, was hampered by the law creating it and by opposition within the Commission itself on the part of those who believed in excessive government. Yet, most of its limited recommendations are now law.

The new Hoover Commission will have wider scope. Furthermore, it is a better designed group. The appointment of James A. Farley, as a member of this Commission, is significant.

Jim Farley came out of the Roosevelt Administration a beloved personality. He has had an intense and intimate experience with the administration of government, not only as Postmaster-General but also as the dispenser of patronage in the early years of the Roosevelt Administration. In private business he has a reputation as a competent organizer. Furthermore, Jim Farley and Herbert Hoover are friends and admire each other in spite of political differences. They will make a great team to use an Eisenhower phrase, in this work.

A third member of this Commission is Herbert Brownell, Jr., the Attorney General, whose success in life is due to an analytical mentality. While his experience in public life is not comparable to either Hoover or Farley, he has a capacity for getting to the heart of a problem swiftly. He must have had a pretty discouraging experience when he was recruiting new men for the Eisenhower Administration and found that few who were fit would serve and that those whom he recruited could not organize on any chart of efficient operations because of existing impediments. Brownell will want to cut through these impediments.

Altogether there will be 12 men on the Commission, which begins work in October, although I suspect that Herbert Hoover is already on the job.

The first railroad tank cars were flat cars, each of which had two large wooden tanks on it.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Exploring The Big Town

Sealing Mt. Everest is quite a feat but we still think New York is The Top.

The love-seats atop "RCA Mountain" (Radio City) where spooners swoon 70 stories above the moon... Tudor City: "star-beach in the clouds" where Bikinis parade around in a state of sundress. (The upper floor windows at the UN offer a wink-side view)... The Empire State—champion of The Great Height Way. A permanent staff of 7 climbs it daily to manœuvre its windows... "Needle-Point Peak," the name the architects use for the spire-tipped Chrysler edifice, the Big Burg's 2nd tallest cliff joint... The silver towers of the Waldorf, where your neighbor may be a Prince or a President... The Statue of Liberty, 3005 ft. above the Bay. Making the U. S. the closest thing to Heaven.

The Longest Run in Town is Broadway itself. It is 300 years old and 18 miles long in Manhattan alone. (America's Street-heart.) The Master Switch on The Bright Lights clicks off at 12:35 a. m. N. Y. is certainly On The Rocks. Manhattan's rock foundations are sturdier than Gibraltar, which explains all our skyscrapers. Properly the safest place to be in case of A-bomb attack is a mid-town skyscraper. Batteries of elevators can empty an edifice in a few minutes. (In many bldgs to shelters five stories underground.) You may still see a Totem Pole on Bway near 116th.

The biggest collection of money is on view at Chase National Bank in the Wall St. area. Including the world's smallest check (1c) signed by Henry Ford.

Broad St. (where the Stock Exchange is) was once Smelly St. The Cathedral of St. John the Divine (on W. 110th) is the largest Gothic church on the Continent. It features 2 Stars of David on the facade.

More people make a living as farmers in The Metropolis than in Dubois, Idaho. We have over 1,000 city slickers on our 300 farms.

New York has more Southerners in it than any city in the Southland. (That's what I like about the Nawth.) Betcher didn't know that Radio City's charlies bank their waste-baskets for 48 hours, dust in case any office along the Great Mike Way wants to locate crumpled papers, valuables, etc.

Radio City Music Hall is the only theatre in the world with its own fully equipped hosp. (Nurses as pretty as the Rockettes, too.) You can buy a macaw at any of the 6th Ave. pet shops for a mere $350. (The rich man's parakeet.) There's a hidden owl in the folds of the gown at the famed Alma Mater statue on the steps in front of Columbia's Law Library.

The Legend: When the sculptor made it he was forbidden to use the owl on the statue. So he sneaked it in anyhow. (Aww, who gives a hoot?) Some of the marble slabs at 30 Rockefeller Plaza are still festooned with fossils. (Hundreds of millions of years young.) Amusing diaper delivery van in midtown with the oddest horn. It toots the first 8 bars of "Rock-a-bye Baby."

Hartem, the Negro sector (one square mile), where there are reportedly more Cadillacs per square block than any other sq. mile in the world.

This could never happen in Calcutta: The royal-looking Indian couple (she is gold braided sari, diamond in forehead—he is in regal Maharajah garb) supping at the 57th St. Automat. Sharing the same table with two street-cleaners.

Sailboat fans at Central Park's 72nd St. pond. The only place in the world where you see more men than boys playing with toys. Some of the miniature dreadnaughts are valued in the four figures. (Just sowing their wild boats.)

The 1650 Broadway bldg at 51st and The Big Apple where the professional gag-writers work. Their office hours are the wackiest—from midnight to 8 a. m. (They meet their clients for "lunch" in Lindy's at 2:30 a. m.) The sign in the Madison Ave. Jewelry shop: "Sweetest Music of the season? Wedding Bands!"

The funeral parlor near 45th on 2nd which has a clock in the window with this double-take reminder: "The Time is Now."

The poster on the church at 86th and Amsterdam: "This Vacation Don't Make God Your Last Resort."

The dough-re-mi shop at 56th and 6th which makes made-to-order cakes. Up to $350 per cake! (Mr. Printer, $350 is correct.) The tree that grows out've the window of a W. 50th dress shop. Talk about chauvinism: There's a Caviarateria on E. 56th.

The truck carrying caskets with this on its rear: "Don't Hit Me. I Might Have Your Size!" The 3rd Ave. barber shop sign: "Children's Haircuts."

Polliachi, the only spaghetti-eating eat in town. It is welcome in 3 Italian restaurants on W. 46th St.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

A well known artist is building a new home nearby. It has every modern convenience and convenience in it, and will cost in the neighborhood of $65,000.

"Art must be a very fine business," said a businessman friend when I pointed the new house out to him. "It seems to me that in Connecticut there must be a thousand artists, writers and musicians who have expensive homes."

"It must be wonderful just to sit down at the easel around 7 or 11 in the morning—or at the typewriter or the piano work for a couple of hours and get thousands for the stuff you paint, write or compose."

"I work hard from morning to night. I am just as smart as a lot of your 'successful' artists—and I certainly cannot afford a $65,000 home or even a $35,000 home."

"How do those fellows do it?"

My friend's inquiry brought to mind a letter I had from Dayton, Ohio, the other day.

A man wrote me and said he wanted to make some quick money, and decided on writing a few pieces for the magazines. It seemed so easy and to take up so little time and effort.

So he sat down and did some thinking. He had read hundreds of fiction stories and novels. Each one of them appeared to have a formula.

But, to save his neck, he could not get an idea for a story. Everything he thought up had already been used by somebody else long before the same idea came to him.

Would I please tell him how a fellow gets original ideas. It follows like Shakespeare, Jack London, Irvin Cobb, John Steinbeck and Robert Sherwood, and "dames" like Fannie Hurst, Mary Roberts Rinehart and Edna Ferber could do it, he couldn't see why he couldn't.

I told the fellow that as far as I knew he had the same equipment as the writers he mentioned—a typewriter, copy paper, a pencil and a table or desk.

All he had to do was to put his original thoughts down on paper, send the stuff to a publisher and get it accepted. If it were the right kind of stuff, there shouldn't be any time at all before he, too, could build himself a $50,000 or $100,000 home.

I didn't tell him, of course, that for every one writer, painter, composer who makes the grade, there are many thousands who are so close to starvation that it isn't funny.

I didn't tell him that almost everybody who has learned his A B C's thinks he can be an author; everybody who has studied music in grade school thinks he can be a musician and every would-be artist believes that painting is simply a matter of daubing a few splashes of color on canvas.

I heard of a man the other day who always wanted to be a painter but had absolutely no talent for it.

He painted a picture of an empty chair. In the background there was a door, marked "MEN."

Commissioners Purchase Addressing Machine For $6,505

Assessment Records To Be Compiled

Commissioners ordered $6,505.80 worth of addressograph equipment yesterday.

It was one of the first steps toward setting up a permanent land record system for property assessment.

The new machinery is expected to take over a mass of manual and typewritten chores in county offices.

Representing the addressing machine firm were R. T. Speece, senior salesman, and Ted Slayton, manager of the Scranton branch of the company.

They had been contacted earlier in anticipation of setting up the assessment record system, according to Chief Clerk Harry Taylor. Yesterday details of an order were settled by Commissioners Amzi F. Altomere, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer.

Delivery of the addressograph will be in 12 weeks. Delivery of a "graphotype" machine—part of the special additional equipment—will be in eight weeks.

But some identical company-owned machines will be loaned to the county without any expense or transportation charges in the meantime if they are needed for the assessment record system work, commissioners were told.

Included in the equipment listed on yesterday's order were:

An automatic addressing machine with special attachments, at $2,158.45.

A graphotype machine at $1,541.25.

Four steel cabinets with a capacity of 40,000 plates and frames (one plate and one frame per property), with two cabinets slated for assessment use and two for voters' street list use; self-sections, chair, index cards, protective plastic sheaths and miscellaneous pieces, total, $2,806.10.

Basically, the machinery is designed to print a name and address on anything—letters, cards, forms, lists—and do it automatically and quickly.

The new equipment will be used to print the assessment books for both field and office use. Then the pages will be bound.

With the addressing machine, once the "plates and frames" are made up on typewriters, the process will take about a week, Taylor said.

Formerly the tedious job was done by local assessors in long-hand.

Under the old system it took three clerks about four months to type out tax duplicates in triplicate. With the new equipment the job will take about a week, once the cards are set up.

Time for turning out the voters' street lists will be cut about in half.

With the new machine it will take about a half day to run off the estimated 1,000 personal property tax forms, instead of three days as before.

The machinery will also be put to use in other county offices, it was expected.

One of the chief reasons for purchase of the machine, however, was for use in the permanent record system about to be started.

Assessment Plan Set Up

Four—One part-time clerk.

According to Taylor, the plan drafted by Aicher calls for using the local elected assessors for information-gathering to some extent.

The program also includes the training of local personnel by Aicher or his subordinates so that there will be clerks ready to step in and take over when the system is complete and ready to use.

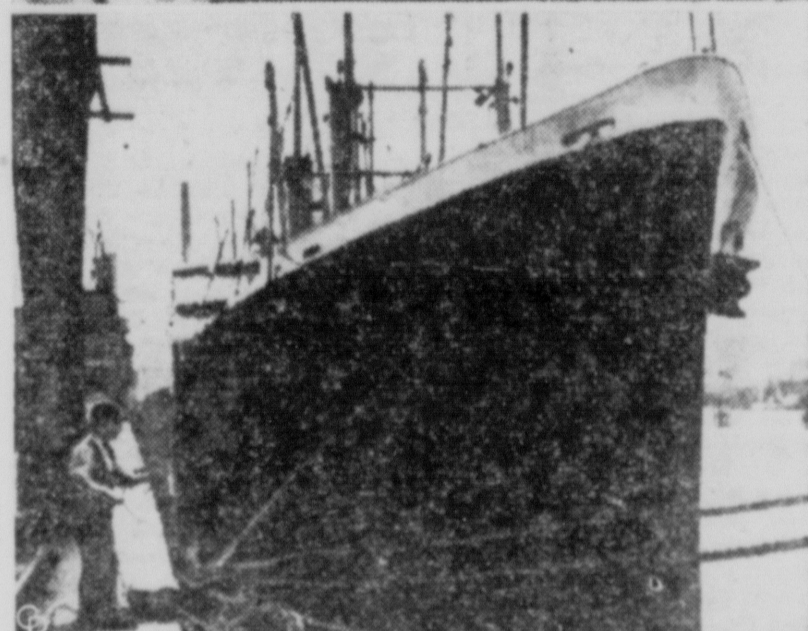

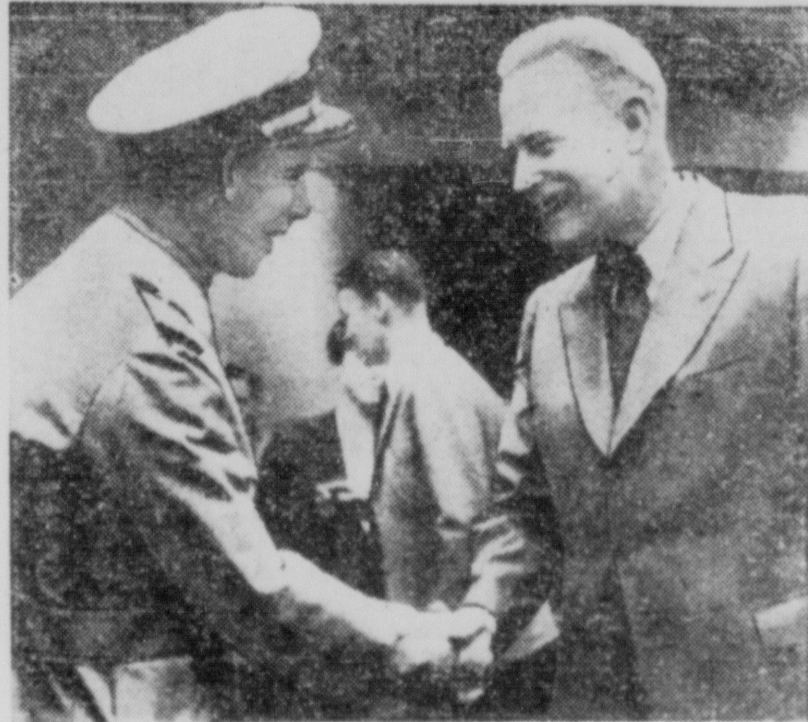

Commissioners have had just two estimates on this type of job. One was Aicher's, for $75,000.

The other was furnished on an off-the-cuff basis by representatives of two firms in a meeting with commissioners last January.

They were Michael Baker Jr., Inc., Rochester, Pa., a firm of consulting engineers, planners and surveyors which operates on a world-wide basis; and Cole-Layer-Trumble Co., Dayton, Ohio, an appraisal and revaluation firm.

These two companies had joined forces to do the kind of mapping and appraising work which is required by the new Pennsylvania assessment legislation. They are setting up a permanent record system in Mifflin County.

They roughly estimated the cost of the completed job, done by their

Bridegroom Turns To Crime To Finance Honeymoon Trip

Washington, AP—Twenty-year-old Edward Patrick Scully Jr., said he felt much relieved yesterday after telling police how he resorted to crime to finance a transcontinental honeymoon with a pretty, 17-year-old Boston schoolgirl.

Boy Scout Reunited With Dog

Doylestown, AP—Boy Scout Eddie Rauss came home from the National Jamboree yesterday and his German Shepherd dog, unable to eat or play since he went away, whimpered and cried and wagged her tail.

Then Allagretta jumped up and licked his face and whimpered some more.

The reunion took place in front of the Doylestown postoffice just after Eddie's troop had been officially welcomed home from California.

There were a lot of people around and Allagretta seemed more flustered over the crowd than anything.

But when Eddie headed for the family station wagon, which Allagretta has occupied almost constantly since Eddie left in it to drive to the railroad station, she pricked up her black ears and trotted contentedly beside her 16-year-old master.

Rutan Funeral Rites Conducted

Funeral services for James C. Rutan were held yesterday at 2:30 p.m. in Lanterman funeral home.

Rev. Edward T. Houston officiated. Interment was made in Laurelwood Cemetery.

pallbearers were Robert Warner, William Everett, Charles Williams, Nelson Whitmore, Richard firms, at $125,000.

The estimate on time was 26 to 30 months for the entire job, as compared with Aicher's estimate of a "maximum of three years."

The legislative act which made the permanent record system mandatory allowed five years to set up the system. If Monroe's system is set up within the expected three years, it would come within the 1956 deadline.

One of the chief goals of the type of permanent record system now under way in Monroe is the elimination of "unequal assessments"—both from district to district, and from property to property within the same district.

Once the permanent record system is set up, the "real" or market value of the property (as opposed to the assessed valuation) will not be upped unless improvements of more than $1,000 a year are made,

Aicher Buys Property In Monroe County

John Barron Aicher, the man commissioners hired yesterday to set up the $75,000 land record system for Monroe County, has just purchased a home in Monroe County.

The tract of 180 acres, with four cottages, is on Route 335, the Kunkletown-Saylorsburg road, two miles east of Kunkletown.

Aicher is a husky, curly-haired man of 43 who heads John B. Aicher Associates of Easton and Allentown.

An Easton native, he attended high school there, studied civil engineering at International Correspondence School. He studied structural engineering at Wilson Engineering Corp.

Mr. Aicher was registered as a civil engineer and land surveyor in Pennsylvania in 1939, was registered in New Jersey in 1940.

He is a member of the following engineering societies: Pennsylvania and New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers; Society of American Military Engineers; American Concrete Institute; Engineers Club of Lehigh Valley. He is an associate member of American Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Architects, American Welding Society, Illuminating Engineering Society.

In his present outside assignment as valuation engineer for a firm of consulting engineers he is responsible for survey and appraisal of three water companies valued at an estimated total of $1 million.

As a self-employed consulting engineer his work in the past decade has included such projects as roads, sewers, water works, buildings, excavation, and the land surveying and research related to these projects.

From 1951-1953 he served as construction engineer-superintendent for a general contractor's organization, with responsibility for construction of a "million-dollar plant expansion program for a medium-sized chemical plant."

In 1951 his services were engaged in connection with construction of a five-story office building.

He has been employed in engineering projects by an excavating contractor, iron contractor, and was for five years designing engineer and supervising engineer for an architectural firm with responsibility for construction of nine projects valued at more than $4,500,000.

Aicher earlier in his career headed number of WPA projects in a borough outside Easton.

Couple's Trip Not Exactly A Vacation

Cheboygan, Mich., AP—A log of the Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boyes' "vacation" would read like this: Pontiac—Son David, 15 months, drank some washing compound while parents prepared for trip north. Recovered after hospital treatment.

Flint—Car wrecked. Parents cut and bruised.

Cheboygan—Continuing trip here with relatives, son David fell on hunting knife in car. Ten stitches taken in leg at local hospital.

Ironwood—David left in Cheboygan with relatives. Mrs. Boyes fell down hill near here and broke ankle.

Cheboygan—Mrs. Boyes back in Cheboygan to recuperate. Son David stuck hand in electric fan. Doctor repaired cuts.

Two Injured Seriously As Car Hits Tree

Delaware, AP—A Philadelphian and his wife were injured seriously yesterday afternoon when their car literally wrapped itself around a tree in this Pike County community.

In St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, were Werner Kolb, the driver, who suffered a fractured breastbone and a fractured left thighbone; and his wife, Sylvia, who received a "deep cut over the left eye and on the eyelid."

Milford State police who investigated the accident said the eye itself was injured, but to what extent was as yet unknown.

The car, a heavy sedan, was traveling south on Route 209 at 4:30 p.m. The car dropped off on the right. Trying to steer back on, Kolb evidently lost control, police said. The car swerved off the highway to the left, shot back to the right again and hit a parked truck a glancing blow.

Then it shot off the highway on the left again and careened into a tree. The vehicle wrapped itself around the tree in such fashion that parts of the vehicle were crushed into and partly imbedded in the tree.

Police said Kolb was crushed into the wreckage, suffering the chest and leg injury. He was finally freed by Trooper John McCarthy, who came on the scene almost immediately after the wreck, and the operator of the truck who had been walking away to make a phone call when his truck was hit. Truck driver was Frank Glod, 38, Philadelphia.

Damage to the car, a total loss, was estimated at $3,800.

Thanks for the birthday presents!
I had a glorious time
Unwrapping all the lovely things,
And saying "They're all mine!"
There were flowers, nuts and candies,
Tobacco, socks and such,
"Why sakes alive," I says to me
"Do I deserve this much?"
Two cakes with candles burning,
Some hankies too and cards,
And telegrams, from loyal friends
Who thought I'd take it hard.
Because I had reached FIFTY
A short span I would say,
But still in hectic times like these
I've grown old and gray.
But still I'm looking forward
To fifty years or more,
But gee I'll sure be happy
If I ever reach four score.
Four score, of course, if I keep well,
For health means more than wealth,
And I enjoy my present life
Because I have so much.
So much in friends, in home and work
So much in love and cheer,
So much in things I like to do
That maybe I will make the grade
And live another year—at least.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, don't tell me! A day with nothing on the calendar whatsoever. And what a poor social editor supposed to edit, pray tell? The last time this happened was Good Friday. But then, at least, you know where everybody was.

Now it's rather a problem. Maybe they're on vacation, but that ought to be news, too. More likely they're just breathing a big sigh of relief that they don't have to go anywhere at all.

I kept track of a lot of them yesterday when they gathered at Glen Brook for Ladies Day. However, cards seemed to be more popular than golf during the afternoon and no wonder. The humidity weighed on your spirit like one of those damp hot blankets they use for physical therapy.

Though the weight wasn't so evident until I had to come in to work, I notice. And it lifted considerably when I found some unexpected engagements, and the Garden Club story, and some family reunions I hadn't expected.

In fact, once I got this space filled up, I wouldn't be surprised if I didn't go speeding home rejoicing in the wonderful evening air.

However, I'm warning you don't go sniffing too deeply of the evening air along Lower Main Street. At least you know you're breathing when you get a whiff of that aroma. Now there's some air with some body to it. In fact, you can almost smell the body itself. No wonder the citizens are protesting.

Local Garden Club Officers Share in Planning 5-State Conference at Skytop in Fall

The Monroe County Garden Club was represented at a special meeting of leaders from surrounding Pennsylvania Federated Garden Clubs held at Skytop Lodge on Wednesday, July 29.

Mrs. Ernest N. Calhoun, Pennsylvania state president of the Garden Club Federation, entertained the representatives at lunch before the business session. The meeting was held to complete plans for the coming dual Central Atlantic Region and the Pennsylvania Garden Club Federation to be held at Skytop Lodge September 30 and October 1.

Large delegations are expected from five states: Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania, representing the district and from the 138 Garden Clubs representing the state.

At the meeting there were representatives from five Garden Clubs: Emmaus, Mrs. T. P. Kirby, president; Mrs. Clarence Roeder, past president; Bethlehem, Mrs. LeRoy Black, past president; Mrs. Warren Dietrick Sr., Allentown, Mrs. Benton Freeman, president; Mrs. Robert L. Schaeffer, vice president; Monroe County Garden Club, Mrs. Elwood Grant, president; Mrs. Harold Lanterman, vice president; Wyoming Valley, Mrs. Frederick Anstett, past president, and Miss Helen Crane, vice president.

Mrs. Calhoun outlined the tentative program for the two-day session and appointed the following chairmen: Mrs. Frederick Anstett, registration; Mrs. Elwood Grant, physical arrangements; Mrs. T. P. Kirby, Harvest exhibit; Mrs. Benton Freeman, Wednesday luncheon decorations; Mrs. LeRoy Black, Thursday luncheon decorations.

The state meeting will be marked by reports of the presidents of the member clubs and the transaction of state business.

A panel discussion of five phases of Garden Club activities will be held. Speakers will include National Council officers: Mrs. William A. Towne, of Titusville, director of the Central Atlantic Region; Mrs. William J. Walters, president of the National Council; and Mrs. Lewis M. Hull, representative at large and author of "Wild Flowers for Your Garden."

One of the easiest and most delicious ways to serve fresh strawberries is to have them whole with their hulls on. Then put a mound of very finely granulated sugar on each dessert plate and surround with the berries.

Blue Ridge Aux. Pays Another $400 On Fire Hall Debt

Saylorsburg — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co. met Tuesday night at the firehall in Saylorsburg. President Mrs. Anna M. Serfass was in charge of the meeting. Chaplain Mrs. Peter W. Meissel read from the Bible.

It was reported that $20.45 was cleared from the ice cream party which was held in July. Members decided to pay $400 more on the principal of the building fund, making $1200.00 paid so far this year.

The dates of September 12 and October 10 were set for penny suppers. Mrs. Ambrose Altomero is to be chairman of the September supper.

At the end of the business meeting games were enjoyed, and prizes awarded winners as follows: Mrs. Oscar Bonser, Mrs. Nelson Bentzon, Mrs. Enory Haney, Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker, Miss Nancy Metzgar, Mrs. Peter W. Meissel, Mrs. Albert Arnold, Mrs. Allen Post, Mrs. Nina Warfield and Mrs. Anna Serfass.

Refreshments were served, the following committee being in charge of games and refreshments: Miss Marian Metzgar, Mrs. Eugene Metzgar, Mrs. Allen Post, Mrs. Nina Warfield, Mrs. Richard Seidof. The following are asked to serve as hostesses for August: Mrs. Ambrose Altomero, Mrs. George Metzgar, Mrs. Leon Altomero, Mrs. George Hobbs, Mrs. George Metzgar Jr., and Mrs. Robert Rinker.

state departments of education or health can tell you what services are available. Parents can help both in the education and physical training of their children, but the care they give at home may not be helpful if it doesn't go along with that given and advised in school, in the clinic, or by the doctor, specialists say.

If we were to take a vote at the moment, I'm sure that Helen Samuels, our Spice Islands herbs demonstrator, would be the most popular person in our store. And it isn't just because she's such a pleasant, smiling person—it's largely because those herb snacks she prepares are out of this world. If you haven't as yet met Mrs. Samuels, you'll have the opportunity this weekend when you're in. She'll remain with us through the eighth of August too. . . . When I wrote that column the other day on Spice Islands' seven tantalizing teas, I promised myself I'd sample them all. I began with the two most unusual—the Bouquet of Cloves and the Bouquet of Mint. My favorite thus far is the clove tea. Its aroma is delightful—the kind of fragrance you associate with the kitchen on a feast day. An aroma that says "What a well nourished, well blessed people we are." And while its taste is pleasant and tangy, the spices are not too conspicuous. They're subtle — and stimulating. The Bouquet of Mint is pleasantly fragrant too. Tonight I'll try the tea scented with Jasmine blossoms. I'm a little late, perhaps, but I've finally arrived at "tea-age" . . . Know what I like? The ware from Holland that's patterned in heavenly shades of blue, rose, green and gold. There's a mint dish at $1.98 that would be mine in a moment, if I weren't midway between pay days . . . I went to an auction sale one recent evening and acquired a mahogany rocking chair. "Wonderful," my friends tell me, "but a rocking chair isn't much good unless you also have a footstool." Maybe they're right. So Amy Ellenberger puts the pressure on me to buy one of the sturdy, pretty stools in our needlework department. The only drawback is that Amy's stools need needlework upholstery — and when I invest my time and money in something THAT beautiful NOBODY'S going to put his feet on it . . . Giving a surprise party for Gracie Grace is a first rate headache for her friends, as a group of us learned yesterday afternoon. Gracie, who's headed for a surprise before leaving on vacation. But it was practically impossible to get her there. Four times the candles were lighted, three times they ran like strawberry syrup all over the cake, ruining the icing. As for the gift, it was perfect — a rubber lined striped silk beach bag fitted with plastic bottles and jars, from our Wyckoff cosmetic department. One of those bottles would double as a toy for junior. It has such an intriguing spray top . . . You meet such interesting people in Wyckoff's. People like William P. Deering, just home from Indiana and a college course in writing; Mrs. Dorothy Reabold of Landsdale, who asks the Wyckoff Shopper to mention the approaching wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Bond; and the salesman on the staff of the Hecht Company, in Washington, D. C., who tells us he's never been in a store as friendly and enthusiastic as Wyckoff's. He ought to know—Hecht's is pretty friendly too.

What If Bob Taft Were President Now? His Battle For Health Poses Question

By Franklin Johnson
(Central Press Correspondent)
Washington—What if the ailing Senator Robert A. Taft had won the Republican presidential nomination, which he missed by an eyelash a little more than a year ago, and been elected President last November?

Not only is that question asked awesomely by leaders of both major parties who hold the Ohioan in highest esteem, but also by Taft's closest friends and supporters, who shudder to think what might have happened if he had been elevated to the highest office, from which no man apparently can take a leave of absence, as Taft has had to do from his post as majority leader of the United States Senate.

It highlights another peculiarity of the position of chief executive in the world's greatest democracy, and recalls a long chain of queer strokes of fate which through the years have affected the course of the nation, to say nothing of the personal fortunes of those who have dared to aspire to its top leadership.

There is no provision for a disabled President to take a leave and let others discharge his duties while he tries to regain his health, the way Winston Churchill has done, in effect, as premier of Britain.

Miraculously, although the nation has lost three Presidents from illness (William Henry Harrison, Zachary Taylor, and Warren G. Harding) and a like number by assassination (Abraham Lincoln, James A. Garfield and William McKinley), only Woodrow Wilson became incapacitated in office.

After Wilson was stricken with paralysis on Sept. 25, 1919, and the newspapers speculated that his death was a matter of hours, he rallied and served out his waning second term. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, carried on the routines of the office.

It was a narrow escape for the country, but no provision was made for coping with such a situation, should it arise again. The vice president cannot take over while his chief still is alive.

President Eisenhower seems to be acutely aware of all this, and he tries to keep in the best physical condition. He commented recently that it is like when he was bucking the pressures of his big job in World War II, when he said: "I dared not—I could not get sick. Staying well became a serious business with me."

Three times in history, outstanding vanquished party leaders who narrowly missed winning the presidency itself, succumbed shortly afterward.

Latest example, of course, was that of the late Wendell Willkie, who died Oct. 8, 1945, after becoming exhausted on a rapid globe-girdling tour. Only a year before he had been a leading candidate to succeed himself as standard-bearer of the Republican party, whose presidential nominee he was in 1940.

Senator Steven A. Douglas, the renowned "Little Giant" of Illinois politics who had opposed Lincoln for the presidency and been defeated when his own Democratic party was hopelessly split, died on June 3, 1961.

The nation was sobered, and asked itself what if Douglas had been elected and then died with the nation tearing itself asunder in the events leading to the Civil war?

It was serious enough as it was, because Douglas was on a mission to the southern states at the behest of his old political foe, Lincoln, and might have headed off secession.

The colorful Horace Greeley, Democratic and Liberal Republican nominee in 1872, died on the Nov. 29 following election day, the orders of the campaign apparently being largely to blame.

One President, James K. Polk, perhaps feeling his physical powers diminishing, refused to allow himself to be considered for re-nomination after a successful first Nominee Eisenhower and Senator Taft in New York after GOP convention.

British Talking Language Of U. S. By Basing Attitude On Sincerity Of Chinese

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

When the British begin to talk about basing their attitude toward Red China on the sincerity displayed by the Chinese themselves, they are talking the language of the United States.

That thought runs through the whole line of U. S. planning for the forthcoming political conference on Korea.

Signs of Chinese fudging on either the letter or spirit of the truce will be accepted by the United States as finally dooming what at best are only faint hopes of any achievement at the conference.

Such signs already have appeared in the reported movement of Communist planes into North Korea after the deadline for any increases in military strength on either side. The armistice agreement is explicit on this score.

No man, bullet, tank or any sort of munitions is supposed to be moved into Korea now except as direct replacement for a similar item expended, worn out or moved out. Some early slips are expected, and the Reds have made some charges against the Allies, too.

But such acts will help the U. S. gain Allied support for her attitude of extreme wariness toward the Communists. If there are too many repetitions, the conference may as well not be held.

A top British government leader was quoted Wednesday as saying Red China must show signs of willingness to become a law-abiding member of the society of nations if she wants Britain to support her for United Nations membership. If she wants to trade with the West, he said, she will have to stop helping the rebels in Indochina, and show sincerity about a peace treaty for Korea.

The United States is opposed to U. N. membership for Red China as part of any horse-trade. This opposition, however, would decrease in direct ratio with any show of co-operation for peaceful term, and died in 1849, just as his term ended.

At least one probable nominee turned down a chance at the presidency because he was aware of ill health. He was Indiana's former governor and senator, Samuel Ralston, who in 1924 refused to let himself be chosen to break the long Democratic convention deadlock between Alfred E. Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo, because he felt that he would not live out his term if elected. John W. Davis then was nominated, and Ralston died soon after.

Senator Taft is different, because he and his friends, as well as the host of well-wishers in all political parties, hope and expect that he will return to the Senate arena.

Still they wonder, what if he were burdened now with the high office which he sought so energetically and almost succeeded in getting—the job no man can lay aside, even for a moment while he tries to regain his strength?

Legion Votes Support To Ex-Sergeant

Pittsburgh (AP)—Without giving all out support specifically to imprisoned ex-Sgt. Robert Toth of Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania American Legion yesterday called on its national organization to determine the rights of all servicemen. Toth was whisked from his Pittsburgh steel mill job by Air Force police after his honorable discharge and flown to Korea in connection with the slaying of a Korean civilian. A U. S. District Court has ordered his trial held up pending arguments on legality of his seizure.

The Pennsylvania Legion adopted a resolution for its national judge advocate to participate as a friend of the court in any such case which may at present be pending.

Other resolutions approved by the convention:

Support Senate Bill 200 outlawing the Communist party in the United States; urged universal military training; asked the same kind of pension policy for all veterans as applies to those of the Spanish-American War; urged a national

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys. If these conditions bother you, Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully for millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 million of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Settlements. The United States is anxious to avoid discussion of membership in connection with the Allied desire for unification of Korea.

She has been extremely anxious over the British tendency to meet Chinese terms at this and other points in order to get Britain's China trade back to a more regular basis.

In addition to the matter of Red China's character, the United States has also cited the fact that British diplomatic recognition of Peiping before the Korean War didn't produce much of a response from the Reds, thus setting up practical doubts of moves of this type.

Americans also applauded the statement of Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, that "this armistice should form a turning point for the better in the Far East. In any case we shall do our duty by the world causes of which we are the servants."

All this represents a tendency toward greater Allied unity at an extremely critical time. It lessens the possibility that the Communists can use the conference to magnify Anglo-American differences, in spite of some remaining antagonistic forces in Parliament.

President Accepts Invitation To Attend Fund-Raising Party At Hershey Night Of Oct. 13

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday accepted an invitation from Pennsylvania Republican leaders to attend "an old-fashioned birthday party" at Hershey, Pa., the night of Oct. 13.

This is the night before the President's 63rd birthday. Members of the group who called at the White House yesterday said the party would be a political fund raising affair, with those attending the dinner being required to contribute $100 each to the state Republican campaign chest.

The leaders predicted more than 6,000 persons would attend. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany the President on the trip. Philip T. Sharpless of Philadelphia, Republican finance chairman for the state, acted as spokesman for the delegation. He said there would be no formal speeches at the affair but that the President might say a few words of greeting.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), a former governor of his state, said the White House call dealt exclusively with the Hershey invitation. He refused to discuss reports that he is being urged to run again for governor next year when the term of Gov. Fine expires. Under the state law a governor cannot serve successive terms.

"I don't want to spoil the party (meaning the Hershey birthday affair) before it gets started," Duff answered reporters with a smile. Besides Sharpless and Duff, the delegation included Sen. Martin, Republican National Committee members G. Mason Owlett and Mrs. Ray Murdock, Rep. Richard Simpson, and Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman.

PRINCESS AND THE CAPTAIN

FOR years Britishers have been intrigued with the question: "Who is the favorite beau of Princess Margaret?" Overlooked in the list of possible suitors was Capt. Peter Townsend, RAF hero of the Battle of Britain. As the royal equerry since 1944, Townsend's duty required him to escort the young princess in public as well as be a frequent visitor to the royal household. Last year the handsome, 38-year-old flyer divorced his wife. This year he emerged from the background as the man the Princess reportedly wants to marry. Queen Elizabeth gave her consent to a move which helps clear the way for her sister to marry the divorced commoner. This move was a revision of Britain's regency law, which provides that, in event of queen's absence, serious illness or death, Margaret would serve as acting ruler until Prince Charles reaches the age of 18. The revision would probably make the Duke of Edinburgh the regent. Still an obstacle: Anglican church which disapproves of any royal marriage with a divorced person.

Printers, Jack's Market Win In County Softball Circuit

Union Printers and Jack's Market turned in victories in the Monroe County Softball League last night. The Printers defeated the Shamrock Inn, 6-3, at Stroudsburg Playground.

The Jack's Market victory over IAM was protested by the latter when the base umpire and home plate umpire couldn't agree on a play at first base, after John "Julie" Arnet was called out for leaving the bag too soon. The protest will be lodged with circuit president Jack Mullins.

Martins Creek Takes Over Number One Spot

Tatamy Fails To Halt Drive Of Winner

Tatamy — Martins Creek moved into the top spot in the Blue Mountain League for the first time this season with a 3-1 victory over Tatamy last night, here on the losing contingent's home field.

The victory enabled the Martins Creek contingent to complete its drive from the bottom of the heap to the lead within the span of one campaign. Last night's victory was the eighth straight for the new occupant of first place.

Martins Creek now has a mark of 17 victories and six defeats.

The winning aggregation broke into the scoring column in the visiting half of the first inning.

Dixon singled, went to second on an error and raced home on a single by Manager Olympio "Patch" Paschall.

Martins Creek led the contest with two markers in the second on a walk and singles by Vic Schmeltzer, Paschall and Bill Goldworth.

Tatamy averted a shutout by picking up a single run in the fifth, when Bill Williams lashed a home run.

Bob Weiss worked the distance for Martins Creek and limited Tatamy to five hits.

I wonder if I might borrow today a portion of a page in your paper. This isn't meant to start another fight or just to start a similar paper. I started to reflect about this matter while watching a game of baseball.

Of course you know to which game I refer; it even caused the team managers to confer. You must have read of the game on the sports page of this paper. But the worst part of all was missed like a ball and the error was definitely "OURS."

We're all teachers, you and I, of that there should be no doubt. We teach our wives, our husbands, our children, or even a casual friend. But the way we teach is like a seamstress sewing. As in the case of a child continues growing. There is just one difference I'm afraid and that is it isn't easy to rip out a stitch of learning as it is a stitch of sewing.

The verbal exchange of words, for example, between a Little League Leaguers and an opposing manager would really astound you all. The way the youngsters expressed the situation in the filthiest language would make you wonder where he got the gaul.

But I wonder again if it's not like a missed ball and the error is actually ours. The greatest enemies in the world, "KIDS", really are experts at the job. Take a look at your son some time as he shows you how Robin Roberts pitches, or how Ted Williams is going to hit again. But they don't stop at a national hero because they have a hero here. Don't look around and expect a cheer, the hero my friends is you. If you are a father, a brother, etc. you are the person to pattern a life after—so you see there is a job to be done. You MUST be a good spectator, a good player, a good coach, or even just a good friend. The desire to win of course we should stress, the desire to win at all costs is a mess. Stalling tactics upstart-mindful conduct should of course not be taught. But once observed, any manager responsible should stop it immediately.

The cradle of democracy, the athletic field or court, is where Little Americans practice democracy. How can they practice democracy if we teach OR ALLOW such poor conduct between what should be two friends. . . . Which brings to mind another problem, consolidation. We think it awful that the Communists and the U. S. couldn't get together for so long—yet we allow petty politics or what have you to interfere with consolidation of two friends, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. Men died in Korea because the Communists and the U. S. couldn't get together—children suffer now because of the lack of both sides of the bridge getting together. Oh! well, that is another letter.

Let me close, however, with this. Abraham Lincoln said in his now famous Gettysburg Address, "the world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but they shall never forget what they did here." . . . Let's change that now to our situation in 1953. It would go something like this, "the children will little note nor long remember what I say here, but they CAN NEVER forget what you did (OR DID NOT) here."

Sincerely,
S. M. RUSSELL.

Longshot Sets World Record

Westbury, N. Y. (AP) — Chuck Volo, a longshot invader from Maryland, broke the world record last night for a mile and one-half on the half-mile Nassau Pace at Roosevelt raceway in the time of 3:05 3-5.

Chuck Volo is owned by S. A. Wathen and Son of Ft. Fairfield, Maine, and driven by Wendell Wathen of Southern Pines, N. C.

Penn Hills Lodge Bows In Softball

Anatomink Sky High Lodge defeated Penn Hills Lodge, 8-5, in softball here on the losing club's grounds yesterday.

Lester Lewis, Woodside, Long Island, was the winning hurler, and Mike Ciccardi, Garfield, N. J., the loser. John Vitale, Newark, homered with two on in a losing cause.

Are Yankees Using Secret Weapon?

New York (AP) — Are the New York Yankees using a 3D secret weapon to help win their fifth American League pennant?

The rattled Cleveland Indians, beaten twice in a row prior to yesterday, weren't making any flat accusations. But some observers felt they were entitled to at least an official protest against the Yankees for distracting tactics.

These tactics were built—and the word is used advisedly—around a third dimensional blonde bombshell, unidentified, strategically stationed in the Section 5 box seats at Yankee Stadium.

This, it is necessary to add, is in full view of the playing field. Wednesday the curvaceous customer was given an assist—by all but the official scorer—in the Yankees' 7-3 victory over the Indians.

The Indians clipped Vic Raschi for three runs in the second inning and appeared moving along just fine.

Then the 3D secret weapon, said by one observant journalist to make Marilyn Monroe look like a "poor, undernourished girl" got up and pranced up the aisle in an arrestingly low-cut pink dress.

There was a round of wolf whistles. The Indians' bench as a man turned out to gawk. Even the players on the field turned temporarily to see what was the matter. Cleveland pitcher Bob Lemon walked two men in a row and then gave up a single. And a run was in.

More wolf whistles in the third. Then just as Lemon prepared to pitch to the Yankees in the bottom half of the sixth, the lady went into her act again.

Up the aisle and back again.

Peoples Coal put on another of its now famous finishes last night to down National Bank, 7-6, in a Stroudsburg Little League baseball game played on the circuit's official field.

The Bankers were a stubborn foe last night, as they forced the Coolmen to come from behind. At one time the Bankers held a 6-2 advantage.

Paul Frailley lashed out a home run and pitched a five-hit contest in a winning cause.

Johnny Gilpin drove home two of the seven winning runs, as Peoples Coal were credited with eight hits.

Both teams committed three errors.

Today's schedule calls for Security Trust and Penn-Stroud Hotel to battle on the same field, at 6:15 p. m.

number one team in the Pocono Mountains Little League last night with a 17-2 victory over Barrett Lions, here at the losing club's home grounds. The game was halted after five innings by darkness.

Mount Pocono was never out of the lead as the club scored at least one run in every inning.

Six runs in the third inning and five in the fifth were the big sparks for the winning aggregation.

Barrett averted a shutout by scoring one time in the first and another single tally in the fifth.

Mount Pocono took advantage of 10 walks by home team pitchers which combined with 13 hits to the damage.

Jimmy Kinney limited the Barrett Lions to three hits.

Today's contest in the league will send Barrett Rotary against Pocono Lions, at the Township High field, Pocono Pine at 6:30 p.m.

Barrett Club Meets To Discuss Action

Canadensis — Barrett's entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League held a special meeting here at the Cross Roads last night.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the action of the league at the Popopoco Hotel, Effort, last Monday, when a game originally forfeited to Barrett was ordered replayed with Tannersville.

Clinton Getz, president; John Wernett, secretary, and M. N. Warner, treasurer, were the circuit officials present at last night's meeting. All Barrett team officers were in attendance.

Action, if any, to be taken by the Barrett team, will be announced following the regular August league meeting.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

This column has attempted on at least two occasions this summer to point out that Monroe County is currently sponsoring a baseball program for the youth of the area that is second to none in the country. Maybe it's old stuff to some of the sports fan of this area, but it certainly is a fact that many adults in this territory have worked hard to build this diamond program for the youngsters. Baseball for kids was founded on the belief that it will build better players and better citizens for the future.

True, there are some adults who don't realize the importance of the present setup, as they use victory and defeat as a yardstick in measuring the importance of the area diamond program. The fellow that lectures his youngster from the stand or hollers at another player or continually belabors the umpire with uncomplimentary remarks is killing the game of baseball for the youngsters of this area. But, although I hate to admit it, the kids themselves certainly aren't giving the game any sort of shot in the arm at this moment.

Those people who attended a Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburg game at Gordon Giffels field on Wednesday has plenty to talk about, but one of the chief topics of conversation concerned an argument between a manager and player of rival teams. Very few had the knowledge that there would have been no argument at all if the youngster involved hadn't popped off with a very poor statement under the circumstances. The manager had approached the boy to tell him that a move not necessary in the game just played might get him in trouble in future contests, when the youngster answered in a manner that isn't generally acceptable to an adult, and in turn drew some uncomplimentary remarks.

Before the same game, another manager saw a rival player practicing bunting. The pilot stopped long enough to tell the kid a helpful suggestion, when a second youngster virtually drove the manager away with a verbal barrage. I know that youngsters between the ages of 12 and 15 are in that age group where wise remarks are considered modern. But, youngsters just don't talk to adults the way some of these local kids are doing at the present time.

Many people in recent years have been wondering why this area can't put out outstanding athletic teams annually, as do other areas. Instead of once in a great while. One of the reasons unfolded itself in front of the fans at Giffels field on Wednesday. Not all, but enough youngsters to make the situation dangerous, insist on talking and making out smart remarks, while an adult interested in the youngster's athletic future attempts to direct him on the right path. Many of our modern kids for some unknown reason possess the attitude that they know all the answers.

Returning to movements harmful to the game, such as giving the elbow to an opposing runner or tripping a runner while he is circling the bases, it might be good to point out that when a player pulls a stunt of this type he immediately admits two things. First—he is a very poor sport and secondly the player committing the rule infraction admits that he must resort to such tactics because his playing ability isn't equal to that of the other players in the circuit. He also very seriously harms his chances for future play in the high schools of the area. Nobody wants to have anything to do with a dirty player.

Fathers and grandfathers of boys playing in the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs this season would have given most anything for the chance of learning baseball that the younger generation enjoys today. Every boy who plays Little League and Little Bigger League baseball is a potential major leaguer. His advancement along the diamond road, of course, depends a great deal on the physical and mental makeup of the youngsters, but the player's ability to learn his baseball lesson is also a very important factor in his progress up the ladder of success.

Adults who have volunteered to serve as managers in both the Little Bigger and Little Leagues of the area have given up valuable time, hours in which some of the men get their only rest of the day. They have volunteered to show the kids how to bat, throw, run the bases, pick up grounders, haul down long flies, slide, stand on the pitching mound and virtually every other factor important to the game. The Little Bigger League in this area is fortunate enough to have managers like Frank Radler, John Schoonover and Tom Bonser, all with loads of minor league experience, and Bill Reuser, Warren "Mag" Loney and others who are deep in all types of athletic experience.

The Little Bigger League also has a tireless worker in Gene Martin. In other words, the circuit has everything needed to insure success, if the kids playing in the league actually want the league to be successful.

IBW Agrees To Accept Third Loss

Monroe Silk was declared the winner of Wednesday's Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburg baseball game at Gordon Giffels field, it was announced last night by Gene Martin, president of the circuit, following a special meeting of league and team officials. The teams are now deadlocked for first place in the standings.

All but one of the managers in the circuit attended the meeting held at Shawnee Hall, East

John B. Kingsley, president of International Boiler Works, and Tom Bonser, manager of that concern's entry in the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs, agreed that Wednesday's contest should be awarded to Monroe Silk.

Monroe Silk was leading 8-1 with only one out needed to be registered to make the contest official when play was halted by darkness.

The IBW contingent was allegedly guilty of using stalling tactics during the course of play.

Martin announced that the meeting was conducted under the friendliest of terms and that all problems had been settled.

The circuit will feature a game at Giffels field today, with Monroe Silk and Line Material holding the center of the stage. The contest will begin at 6:15 p.m.

Milwaukee Blanks Giants

Milwaukee (P) — Lanky Lew Burdette celebrated his second starting stint after a half-season of bullpen chores yesterday with the first shutout of his major league career, a 5-0 job on the New York Giants, as the Milwaukee Braves chased Sal Maglie with a three-run first inning outburst.

The Giants got only one man to third base and one other as far as second, Monte Irvin, one of the National League's top hitters, tied a league record by grounding into three double plays to help Burdette's cause. The mark is shared by 11 other men.

Third Failure — Maglie, failing in his third consecutive starting assignment, retired only leadoff man Bill Bruton in the first inning. Johnny Logan walked and Eddie Mathews singled, Logan going to third on Bobby Thomson's poor throw. Sid Gordon was walked intentionally, but Andy Patko lashed a single to left scoring Logan and Joe Adcock's liner to center sent home Mathews and Gordon.

The Braves added their other two runs off Al Corvin on a pair of singles, a walk and Bobby Hofman's error.

Cardinals Roll Over Pirates

St. Louis (P) — A hitting spree by Enos Slaughter and a masterful pitching job by Eddie Eratt helped the St. Louis Cardinals down the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-4 yesterday for their fourth straight triumph.

But it was a clutch double by "Red" Schoendienst, in his first plate appearance since he was injured by a thrown ball nine days ago, that highlighted a five-run uprising in the sixth and put the Cards in front.

That blow was off John Hetki, who was charged with the defeat in relief.

The Redbirds spotted the Pirates a 4-1 lead against "Vinegar Bend" Mizell.

Sub First Sacker's Triple Enables Indians To Win Final Game Of Series From Yankees

New York, (P)—Bill Glynn, Cleveland's sub first baseman, poled a triple to left centerfield yesterday, scoring Wally Westlake with the run which gave the Indians a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Early Wynn, who followed Mike Garcia and Bill Wight to the mound, became the first pitcher to defeat the Yankees three times this season.

In the eighth with the bases loaded after a double by Billy

Martin and walks to Don Bollweg and Charley Silveira, the 33-year-old righthander forced Gil McDougald to pop for the third out.

The Indians put together three singles and a walk for three runs before Ed Lopat could get his left arm warmed up in the first inning.

With one out, Bob Avila walked. Larry Doby singled to right and then Al Rosen lined one to left center, scoring Avila and sending Doby to third. Rosen took second on the throw to third.

Then Westlake, who replaced Dale Mitchell in left field in a Cleveland shuffleup, sent a shot to center, scoring Doby and Rosen.

The Yankees packaged three walks, an error and a single by Phil Rizzuto into three tying runs in the sixth.

Phillies Use Big Innings To Swamp Reds

Cincinnati (P) — Del Ennis drove in six runs in two homers and two singles yesterday to lead Philadelphia to a smashing 17 to 8 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Granny Hamner also had a big part in the outcome as he, too, made four safeties.

Cincinnati took a five-run lead over pitcher Curt Simmons in the first three innings. Steve Ridzik took over and was the winning pitcher.

Move Back — The Phils moved back into the game in the fourth when Ennis hit his 21st homer of the season and Willie Jones and Ted Kazanski tripled after Hamner had singled.

They scored three more in the fifth, knocking Bob Baczewski out, on a double by Eddie Waitkus, a triple by Richie Ashburn, singles by Ennis and Hamner and a fly by "Smoky" Burgess.

Then came a wild sixth. Kazanski walked, took second when "Hobie" Landrith threw Ridzik's sacrifice away and scored on Waitkus' single. Two bases on balls, and hits by Ennis, Hamner, Burgess, Kazanski, up for the second time, a double by Ridzik, also up for the second time, brought in nine markers.

Cincinnati scored once in fourth and two more in the eighth on pinch hitter Paul Lerchen's single and Gus Bell's 24th home run of the season.

Senators Nip Tigers Behind Stobbs, 7-4

Washington, (P)—Timely hitting, coupled with six-hit pitching by "Chuck" Stobbs, gave the Washington Senators a 7 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers yesterday.

Stobbs held the Tigers to two hits before weakening in the ninth to give up four blows, including Walt Dropo's homer with two mates aboard.

Boosts Average — Mickey Vernon of the Senators extended his hitting attack to 18 games with two singles and boosted his league leading average to .332.

Jim Busby provided the big dynamite for Washington with a bases-loaded triple during a four-run uprising in the fifth inning.

Pocono Manor Women Capture Title In Three Golf Matches

Shawnee-on-Delaware—Pocono Manor Inn won a three-match golf series between the women of three resorts, although finishing third best here this week. Pocono Manor completed the three matches with a total of 100½ points.

This week's action featured Shawnee with 30 and one-half points, while Northampton came up with 23 and Pocono Manor totaled 18½.

Totals — Pocono Manor in the first two matches totaled 38½ and 43½ points, while Northampton tallied 28, 15 and 23 points for a final total of 66. Shawnee's match scores were five and one-half, 13 and one-half and 30 and one-half for a total of 49 and one-half match points.

Pocono Manor was presented with a Silver Pitcher Trophy for winning the team match.

While the class "A" members of the Shawnee Women's Golf Association were taking part in the above tournament, the class "B" division of the same group held a tournament of its own.

Mrs. Frank L. Patterson Jr., won low gross honors in the "B" tourney with a 112 score. Mrs. George Shillinger won low net in the same group.

Chisox Pick Up Ground By Crushing Bosox

Boston, (P)—Chicago's powerful White Sox unleashed their season's heaviest batting barrage—a 21-hit attack featuring homers by Minnie Minoso, Ferris Fain and Tom Wright—yesterday for a 17-1 verdict and a sweep of their three-game series with the Red Sox.

Homers — Fain's sixth homer rattled Mel Parnell in the first inning and then Minoso followed Fain's thirdinning single with his 13th homer.

It was Minnie's ninth circuit clout in July.

Parnell was hoisted in the fourth after yielding hits to Sherm Lollar, Jim Rivera and Mike Fornieles and a walk to "Chico" Carrasquel for two runs.

Cubs Surprise Dodgers, 3-2

Chicago, (P)—Ralph Kiner's three-run homer, his 24th, in the first inning enabled big Bob Rush to record his first complete game since May 9 with a 3-2 conquest of the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday.

It was the first Cub triumph in seven straight meetings with the Dodgers, who had a five-game winning streak snapped and suffered only their third loss in their last 18 games.

Sore Shoulder — Rush has been long hampered by a sore shoulder. He yielded an unearned Brooklyn run in the fourth and in the fifth innings.

Rush hurled scoreless ball until the fourth when Jackie Robinson walked and scored when Carl Furillo's pop single was retried but bobbled by shortstop Tom Brown.

In the fifth pinch hitter Don Thompson was safe on Eddie Miksis' poor throw to first and scored after "Junior" Gilliam's double and Duke Snider's fly to left.

History Will Cite Korea For Security

—by Richard R. Revere

ed there, we advised Syngman Rhee that we would withdraw military aid if he attempted to unite the split peninsula by force of arms.

Thus, in the purely technical and military sense, the victory is ours.

But a Korean victory that was purely military would not be worth very much, for the reason that Korea has relatively little military significance for us. Senator McCarthy may say that dark, dishonorable motives led Dean Acheson to announce, early in 1950, that Korea lay outside our defensive perimeter, but the fact is that Acheson was merely announcing a decision in which all our military leaders—including General MacArthur, who had twice said exactly the same thing—concurred.

Strategically, Korea was expendable; after all, we did ourselves quite gloriously when not only Korea but very nearly all of Asia was in the hands of a hostile power, Japan.

More than a military victory was needed to justify Korea; more than a military victory has been won there.

No one able to recall the far-away world of June, 1950, can doubt that a failure to have intervened in Korea would have encouraged the Communists to attack elsewhere.

It was not the territory on which we fought that was strategically important but the time at which we choose to fight. Aggression had at that moment to be resisted, no matter where it took place; had we failed to respond, the slave world would have been greatly emboldened, the free world greatly dispirited.

In the three years before we undertook the Korean resistance, Communist power in the world very nearly doubled; in the three years since then, it has made no gains. On balance, it is probably a good deal less formidable.

In Korea, the United States proved that its word was as good as its bond—and even better, since no bond had been given. History will cite Korea as the proving ground of collective security, up to this time no more than a plausible theory. It will cite it as the turning point of the world struggle against Communism and as the scene of a great

House Calls For 26 New Judgeships

Washington, D.C. — The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate yesterday a bill creating 26 new federal judgeships.

A similar bill, to create 39 new seats, has been passed by the Senate.

The two measures will go to a Senate-House Conference Committee for adjustment of differences.

Attempts to amend the House bill to make it conform to the Senate measure were defeated.

The Senate bill would add two district judges in Eastern Pennsylvania; the House bill one. The Senate bill would add one permanent and one temporary judge in Western Pennsylvania; the House bill one permanent only.

Contractor Expires At Bethlehem

William Martin, 60, Bethlehem sewer construction contractor, died at noon yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, where he was admitted at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

A Bethlehem native, he was son of the late Frank and Lena Orlando Martin. Before becoming a sewer contractor he managed an A&P store and was employed by a furniture company.

He was a member of Lodge 191, BPOE, Bethlehem; and Fountain Hill American Legion Post there.

Surviving are his wife, Estelle; four sisters, Mrs. Rose Anfusio and Mrs. Charles F. Schmidt, Bethlehem; Mrs. Charles Cirino, Miami, Fla.; and Mrs. Fred Yamronne, Bronx, N. Y.; four brothers, Alfred and Thomas, Bethlehem, George, Philadelphia, and John A. Allentown.

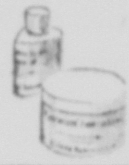

Services will be at 11 a.m. Monday at the funeral home, at 1712 W. Broad St., Bethlehem, with burial at Memorial Park there.

Churches Hold Conference At Koeke Chapel

Paradise—The first local conference of the year was held for the Paradise Charge in Koeke Chapel Tuesday night.

Dr. O. A. Hyden, superintendent of the Eastern District, who presides at such conferences, was unable to be present. The pastor, Rev. C. F. Spangenberg, read a communication from Dr. Hyden stating his regrets and authorizing the pastor to conduct the conference. Rev. Spangenberg appointed Mrs. Paul Barry to act as secretary.

Present were Rev. Spangenberg, Mrs. Martha Henry, Miss Lula Henry, George P. Koerner, William Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Barry and Newkirk Henry. A hymn, with Miss Lula Henry at the piano and pastoral prayer, opened the meeting.

Minutes of the last conference session were read, after which the various reports were given. George Koerner reported that the average Sunday School attendance at Koeke is 30, and that all bills were paid to date. Mrs. Barry reported that Sunday School attendance at Pocono Union averages 29 and also read a treasurer's report submitted by Mrs. Henry Baumann.

Members of the Women's Society of World Service reported that the society is meeting regularly. Mrs. Martha Henry stated that she attended the WSWSS convention in Allentown and had given her report to the local group at one of the meetings.

For the Willing Workers, Miss Lula Henry reported the planning of an annual bazaar scheduled for August 6. Also that the worker had sponsored the replacement of cellar doors both on Koeke chapel and in the parsonage. The pastor reported that prayer meetings are being held and the average attendance at Pocono Union is four and at Koeke, six.

William Henry, treasurer of the Koeke cemetery fund, informed that two and a half plots had been sold, one with perpetual care and one and a half without. Stewards of both churches reported favorable action on the item of increase to pastor's salary. At Pocono Union the increase is $40 annually and at Koeke an increase of $100 annually. Rev. Spangenberg stated that total receipts toward the successfully conducted Daily Vacation Bible School were $107.48, and total expenses were $37.61.

The official workers, Miss Gertrude Janssen and Miss Mildred Deacon, were given a love offering. The conference was informed that Koeke chapel is sponsoring a project for the purchase of 24 new church hymnals, of which 15 have been pledged thus far. A choir has been installed at Koeke under the direction of Mrs. Orpah Bruecker.

Representing the Pocono Union Ladies Aid, its president, Mrs. Martha Henry stated that the society is taking its usual summer vacation with plans to resume in early October. Their annual bazaar is scheduled for Aug. 12. The society sponsored the refurnishing of the Pocono Union Church floor.

Both church treasurers, Mrs. Martha Henry for Pocono Union and Miss Lula Henry for Koeke, reported pastor's salary paid to date. Pocono Union has paid $25 on its missions and benevolences, while Koeke has paid $50.

At the conclusion of business, minutes of this session were read and approved and Miss Lula Henry offered the closing prayer.

Automobile Outstrips War As Man Killer; August Most Dangerous Month, Survey Shows

By Henry C. Nicholas

Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Some 60 million Americans will set forth this year, more than one-third of the entire population of the nation, on an automobile-borne vacation. Of this vast vacation migration the greatest number will travel in August. If you are one of those who takes his vacation in August, authorities agree it is wise if you drive with special care.

As the chart shows, there are more highway deaths in August than in any other month. Last year August automobile deaths were 28 per cent higher than in the average 1952 month. And for every traffic death there were thirty-five traffic injuries.

Part of August's grisly record is due to the fact that more cars than usual travel the highway then. However, this is far from being the entire explanation. National Safety Council experts agree that part of the month's death and accident record is due to what they call the vacation attitude—careless spirits all too often turn into careless driving.

The year 1953 will be recorded in history as having established the most shameful record in the history of the nation—the year in which the number of deaths due to automobile accidents exceeded the number of deaths in battles in all the wars in which this country ever engaged.

Over a period of 177 years, starting with the first battle of the American Revolution and including the Korean and all the major and minor wars in which this country has engaged, the total number of American battle dead has been 1,000,000.

During the little more than fifty years the automobile has been a means of transportation, a span less than the average man's lifetime, the number of deaths due to automobile accidents has soared to 1,175,000.

The automobile's toll of deaths, according to the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, has been 166,000 more than the American deaths suffered in all the wars in the history of this nation.

According to the most reliable statistics the number of Americans wounded in all the wars in which this country ever has engaged was 3,270,000. This compares with some 33 million people, who have been injured in automobile accidents. In other words, in half a century casualties due to automobiles have been 2,600 per cent more than all the battle wounded in our history.

Safety authorities estimate that the economic loss suffered each year from automobile accidents exceeds $3 billion. It is said that the real loss, if it could be measured, would be a sum great enough to balance the federal budget.

Here are 10 tips the National Safety Council offers for safe vacation driving. If they are followed, the Council says the number of automobile accidents will be sharply reduced.

1. Schedule your driving for the daytime. Allow enough time for a good night's sleep every night.

2. Check your car completely before the trip. Take a first-aid kit, flashlight and flares.

3. Load the car so you can see through the rear window.

4. If you are taking children along be sure to lock the car's rear doors.

5. Enjoy the scenery—but not while at the wheel. Stop by the side of the road if you want to admire the view.

6. If you feel sleepy pull off the road and take a nap, or let some one else drive.

7. Pull off the road also if a bee or wasp gets in the car. Open the door and get it out.

8. Go into second or third gear when descending steep grades. Don't brake continuously.

9. Watch out for children. A lot more of them are around outdoors during the summer months.

10. Stay away from the bottle when you plan to drive. Seventeen out of 100 drivers involved in fatal accidents in 1951 had been drinking.

The formulation of these rules by experts was not done merely for the purpose of stringing words together. Experience has shown that the neglect of any one of these tips will result in increasing the number of deaths on the highway this year.

Vehicle Inspection Law Credited With Reducing Accidents In Pennsylvania

Lesser accidents are being caused by mechanical defects since Pennsylvania's mandatory vehicle inspection law went into effect.

According to the Bureau of Highway Safety, only 18 per cent of all accidents on State highways were due to defective equipment during 1952.

The bureau says defective brakes caused 2,650 accidents of which 14 were fatal.

Improper lights caused another 167 accidents with three of these in the "fatal" category.

Defective steering was responsible for 446 wrecks while defective tires brought accidents to another 742 drivers.

Of the total 231,880 accidents which occurred during the year, however, 214,831 were not caused by defective equipment of any kind.

State motor vehicle inspection laws require that all registered vehicles be inspected semi-annually.

Inspection stickers for the first half of this year expire today. If you have not had your auto or truck inspected for the last half of the year—do so immediately.

Excess Speed Blamed For Most Crashes

Excessive speed under bad conditions was death's biggest weapon on State highways last year.

In its annual report, the Bureau of Highway Safety says that 32,188 accidents were caused by "driving too fast for conditions."

Other leaders in driver violations were "failing to yield the right-of-way" which caused 20,877 wrecks, "following too closely" with 13,500 accidents to its credit and "disregarding stop signals" which caused 6,412 wrecks during the year.

Another 1,200 drivers were listed as "under influence of liquor" when accidents occurred. Speeding brought death or accident to 2,832 drivers. Improper passing caused 5,036 wrecks and "driving on the wrong side of the road (not passing)" caused 7,400 accidents.

Failing to signal, improper turns, improper parking and reckless driving were blamed for an additional 12,000 accidents.

Three thousand drivers were

THE MAIL FRAUD MENACE

Medical Frauds Worst Swindlers By Mail
So Postal Inspectors Treat 'Em Roughest

Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles about America's billion dollar fraud racket.

By David A. Heller

Central Press Correspondent

Washington—Thousands of dog lovers and sportsmen all over the nation were taken in by a southern "dog breeder," who a d y e r t i s e d widely in hunting and fishing magazines. In glowing detail he told of the thoroughbred dogs he had for sale.

According to the ads, the blue-blooded canines were slightly smarter than the Quiz Kids, and had pedigrees somewhat longer than Queen Elizabeth's.

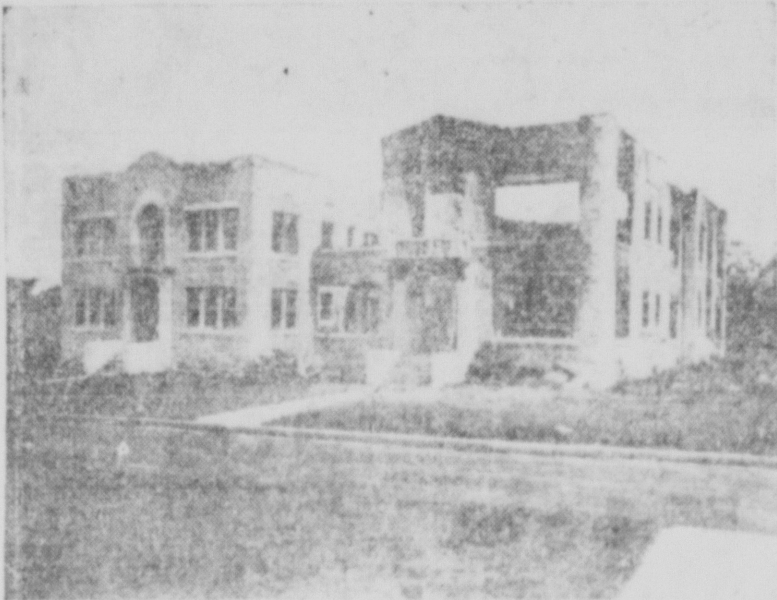

There was only one hitch. The dogs he shipped people who sent him orders were mongrel mutts garnered from dog pounds or strays he picked up off the street. These low-grade pooches, far from being the intelligent beasts advertised, were hardly smart enough to come in out of the rain.

This scoundrel had many offices. In the backwoods, moved frequently, and used more than 100 different aliases. He defrauded dog buyers out of more than $100,000 with mongrel pooches before the postal inspectors swooped down on his hide-out and put him out of the dog business and behind bars. (There, no doubt, he led a dog's life.)

The things some people will do in the furtherance of fraudulent schemes are incredible. Would you sandpaper the skin from your flesh, slash yourself with a razor or deliberately break an arm to cheat an insurance company on a phony injury claim? Of course not. However, you'd be surprised how many people will do that and things even more appalling.

Uncle Sam's postal inspectors have put many a ring of insurance claim fakers out of business. Besides the examples given, a favorite trick with the breed is liberal use of the drug belladonna, taken to simulate heart attacks, and chronic heart disease so that insurance companies will pay off on disability policies. Ironically, some of the crooks have brought presently dangerous heart conditions upon themselves by such tactics.

There is one thing about being a postal inspector—you get variety in your work. Charity rackets, lonely hearts swindles, fraudulent correspondence schools, "reducing gum" designed to melt the pounds off your overstuffed frame and other medical frauds, "radium drops" supposedly able to stop cancers in your eyes and sold for $100 a drop to the afflicted, gold mine swindles, anything you can think of the inspectors must deal with sooner or later.

Arsonists put a match to these buildings. The firebugs who did it were nabbed and juggled by postal inspectors after they mailed a claim for damages to an insurance company.

Medical wizards are constantly giving postal inspectors gray hair. They range from the ridiculous to the deadly. One ingenious artist, for example, playing on the inferior feelings of very short men, offered a gadget for sale which was guaranteed to make them strapping 5-foot-8ers in no time.

This was a "Height Halter," a harness hung from the ceiling which suspended the victim in mid-air. The stretching was supposed to make him grow. It was worthless, of course. Interesting enough, the perpetrator of this swindle was only five feet two inches high himself.

Other medical wizards offer to diagnose any illness you may have and prescribe for it. One advertised that he could tell from a single drop of blood what was wrong with any sick person. Postal inspectors (of course) saw through this. One was a drop of horse blood and the other from a dead man. The wizard found the horse suffering from a long list of maladies, but the dead man was in good health, according to him.

The terrible thing about the myriad medical frauds which constantly spring up is that the ignorant and superstitious are often lulled into a false sense of security and do not visit a doctor until their diseases have progressed too far to be cured. Medical frauds are the worst offenders and postal inspectors crack down on them hardest and fastest.

The postal inspection service is one of the oldest and proudest of Uncle Sam's law enforcement agencies. It goes all the way back to Benjamin Franklin, who was the acting head of the colonial postal system and who took great interest in safeguarding the mails.

At the time of the Revolutionary war, the theft of a valuable letter was made punishable by death. Noah Webster, of dictionary fame, was one of the most famous postal inspectors, being a kind of early American Sherlock Holmes, as well as a fast man with the word meanings.

The task the postal inspectors face is enormous. They police the annual transmittal of 50 billion pieces of mail ferret out hoodlums and crack down on fraud artists who rob by mail. They oversee the integrity of $22 billion worth of stamps, money orders and other financial transactions.

Only about 25 per cent of their time can be devoted to criminal work, but in that small fraction of their effort they do more than any other agency to stop mail fraud America's most expensive kind of crime.

Air ROTC
Juniors Get
Ultimatum

Washington (CP)—The Air Force issued an ultimatum to 13,000 college juniors in its Reserve Officers Training Corps—take flight training or drop out.

John A. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, explained that the Air Force would be unable to absorb next year's crop of young officers unless they were prepared to fly.

Only about 1,000 third year college men in special categories—engineers was the only example cited—will be commissioned next year without flight training, Hannah said.

The Air Force is working under a 130,000-man ceiling on officers this year and has only a limited need for ground officers.

Nevertheless it plans to take in all of the 9,000 ROTC graduates who were commissioned last month Hannah said they would be called to active duty in three equal installments on Oct. 1, Feb. 1, and May 1.

After receiving commissions as second lieutenants, the college graduates are required to serve two years.

In order to make room for them, Hannah said, the Defense Department has approved policies which will make it easier for both regular and reserve officers now serving to resign their commissions.

It has also been decided to weed out older officers whose record shows they to be below average in effectiveness.

The manpower chief said the Army should have no problem in handling its intake of new officers from the Army Reserve Training Program and that the Navy system presented no difficulties whatsoever.

Hannah indicated that those who leave the Air Force ROTC program will be able to obtain draft deferments for the balance of their college work if they have not already used up their deferment privileges.

Two Gas Rate
Cases Merged
By Agency

Washington, (CP)—The Power Commission yesterday consolidated proceedings on suspended wholesale natural gas rate increases of two subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas System and set a hearing here August 17.

The companies are the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. and Home Gas Co. both of Pittsburgh, Pa. The commission previously had scheduled a hearing on proposed increases by Manufacturers for August 3 and on increases by Home August 17.

Both companies have two suspended rate increases pending.

As now scheduled, the August 17 hearing will involve a suspended $2,169,000 increase by Manufacturers which has been put into effect under bond and subject to refund and a more recently proposed $1,343,000 increase which has not yet gone into effect. Home's suspended increases amount to $1,242,000, which is in effect under bond, and $287,000.

Your Horoscope Today

FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1953
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—More favorable for home interests, sound investments and general economics than for other horoscopes. Try to finish up completed matters for a pleasant week end.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Your Venus, very favorably situated, promises a romantic and day for healthy endeavor and wholesome pleasures. Be especially mindful of your family.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Mercury, Mars, Saturn in restraining aspects urge extra caution in hazardous tasks. But good work in any field will attract. Pay.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Reckoning risks still lingers from yesterday so be warned against recklessness. Health risks to life and limb. New indications from Mercury, helpful for management business.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Familiar matters, daily duties, favored now. Less understood or difficult undertakings need more precautions. Extra care stressed in hazardous work.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Mercury not too friendly in influence. It suggests mental rest, advises against worry, overdoing.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Read Tarot. You should find much in your favor, perhaps generation you did not expect. Fine influences for education, but be security cautious.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Your Mars and Saturn today, wary against ill temper, getting steadily excited or overexcited. Above all, take care of health.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter encourages business and financial affairs. Day can produce gains. Refers when convenient.

December 23 to January 22 (Capricorn)—Your Saturn's position advises sensible caution in all undertakings, activities. Day has advantages, too, especially in sound money interests, study, planning.

January 23 to February 22 (Aquarius)—Similar ones to Aquarius. Be guided in what you do by the urgency or need for the tasks. You'll accomplish more if you ease things in stride.

YOUR BORN TODAY—Energetic, buoyant, never want to tire. Many talents and capability for what you enjoy doing. It will aid your advancement if you can school yourself to do the little things well, too. Also learn to take orders like a true soldier. Ladies actually make wonderful military men. Birthdate: John Ericsson, noted naval engineer.

Hammonton
Eliminated
As Base Site

Washington, N. J., (CP)—Hammonton, N. J., has been eliminated, at least temporarily, as the site for a proposed Air Force base but Sen. Hendrickson (R-N.J.) said there still is a chance it may be located there.

Hammonton had been designated as the site in a military construction bill. The Senate Armed Services Committee, however, eliminated the designation and said instead that the proposed 73 million dollar base should be located in the "northeastern part of the country."

The bill carried an authorization of $747,000 for land acquisition. This amount remained in the bill, which was passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the White House.

A spokesman for Hendrickson said Gov. Driscoll of New Jersey had requested that the Air Force not go ahead at Hammonton until questions concerning ground water reserves in the area be clarified.

Hammonton was designated after proposed sites in Lancaster, Lebanon, and Schuylkill counties in Pennsylvania were rejected.

Call-backs are time wasters. You can be of tremendous help to your carrier boy by having his thirty-five cents ready when he calls for it.

Incel Plan Doomed For At Least 2 Years

Harrisburg—Adjournment of the 1953 session of the Legislature appeared to have doomed at last for two years, the proposal of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin for a compact to divide the river's potable waters.

Although it had been approved in the House, end of the Legislature's seven months' session came Tuesday with the Incel measure bottled up in the Senate's forests and waters committee.

Similar legislation already had been passed in New Jersey, New York and Delaware and only adoption by the Senate and approval by Governor Fine were necessary to make it effective.

Pennsylvania has been a stumbling block in the program since it was proposed by Incel more than two years ago. Advisers to the Governor and Legislature have taken the position that there is nothing the state could gain in the plan its neighbors want and that Pennsylvania has plenty of water, anyway, in the Schuylkill, Lehigh and Susquehanna watersheds.

A spokesman for Incel said that New Jersey's best remaining hope for its future water supply is that the state get the best possible agreement through the conference of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania attorneys general that also has been working on an apportionment of the river's water.

"A second-best hope for New Jersey," said the spokesman "would be that action on New York City's pending application to increase its draft from the river is delayed until after January 1, 1955." The application is before the United States Supreme Court and asks that the city be permitted to increase its "take" from the Delaware from 440,000,000 gallons daily to 800,000,000 gallons.

Because of shortages that threaten New York City 50 years hence, it attacked its problem from two angles. It first sought the inter-state agreement. But when there were indications that Pennsylvania would balk, the city filed its petition for a court disposition of its claim for more Delaware water.

The conference of attorneys general was an effort to provide an inter-state agreement in ad-

Seymour Ellsweig And Wife To Open New Shoe Store

By James B. Gaffney

The husband-wife team of Seymour and Annette Ellsweig is working overtime preparing for the Wednesday grand opening of their shoe store at 116 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Located across from the A&P, the store will handle nationally advertised lines of shoes for all family members, and will stock women's handbags and hosiery. Ellsweig spent most of his life in East Stroudsburg, having graduated from high school there. He was associated with his father,

Seymour and Annette Ellsweig

Samuel Ellsweig at the Famous Store, Crystal St. for 20 years, the last seven of which he owned and operated the shoe department. He also attended a training school where corrective shoe fitting was emphasized.

Mrs. Ellsweig also has great experience in the shoe business, having worked for a New York store as a shoe fitter.

The couple has two children, Ronald, 11, and Rochelle, 10, both East Stroudsburg School students.

Opening day and through Saturday of next week, the store will open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Children will be given balloons and special awards will be available for their parents. Regular hours, after the four-day opening, will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

A recent building addition to Tim Rock Studios, Saylorsburg RD. 2, now gives owner Val Robbins 800 square feet of display area in which to exhibit the decorative accessories he designs and manufactures.

Starting in January, 1950, Robbins applied the training he learned in designing from Pratt Institute to develop modern home fashions that now are distributed to some 500 accounts across the nation and in Canada.

Assisted by his wife, Mae, the young owner employs the services of several area firms, including Penn Craft of East Stroudsburg and Madden, of Wayne County, to complete his products.

Exterior of the new addition is of vertical knotty pine. Inside the two showrooms have modern trend in design, with a bit of contemporary added for effects.

Robbins' main Eastern representative is the Vincent Lippe Co., 225 Fifth Ave., New York. Among the many articles manufactured are wooden salad bowls, hors d'oeuvre servers, candlestick holders, wine flasks, bread boards, salad servers and a host of other unique hand-finished household items.

Over 200 persons lined N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, outside Jack's Market Wednesday, all bent on greeting the diminutive Oscar Mayer, official representative of the Mayer Meat Co.

Company staff members escorted Oscar to Jack McMahon's market, parking their "wiener" truck in front of the store. The midjet meat man handed out "wiener" whistles and autographed photos to the children and smoked line sausage samples to adults.

Ernest McNey, of 733 Main St., Stroudsburg, has opened a studio in the Inn at Buck Hill and will continue to maintain his McNey's Studio and Camera Shop in Stroudsburg.

An exhibit of photographs taken by McNey is on display in the Inn's main lobby.

Corporation Profits Spur Stock Buying

New York. (AP)—The stock market advanced vigorously yesterday under the spur of continued high corporate profits.

An analysis by the Associated Press of earnings of the first 378 reporting corporations disclosed an increase in net profits of around 17 per cent in the first half over last year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.10. That is the best since June 17 when the average was up $1.40. The average stands today at $107.90.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.40, railroads up $1.20, and the utilities 20 cents.

The list was composed of 1,056 individual issues of which 673 gained and 155 lost with 29 new highs and 13 new lows for the year registered.

Volume expanded along with the better prices to 1,200,000 shares. Wednesday's total was a million shares with the market up moderately.

What's wrong with American women?

Their husbands are supposed to be the world's best, yet they have the world's highest divorce rate. What's wrong? Are American women too bossy? Too independent? Too prudish? In the new August Ladies' Home Journal, Dorothy Thompson explores the facts and comes up with a provocative answer. Don't miss it. Get your copy of the Journal and read it today!

The Brodheadsville Union Sunday School will hold a bake sale at Altenose's Store on Saturday, Aug. 1. They would like contributions of baked goods for the sale.

Mrs. Florence W. Oyer, of Wilkes-Barre, is visiting with friends in Plainfield, N. J., and New York for several weeks.

Mrs. Nevin Dorshimer and son George visited with Mr. and Mrs. Everitt Ingram at Avalon, N. J., for several days recently.

Miss Margaret Ingram is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everitt Ingram at their Summer home at Avalon, N. J.

Mrs. Raymond Serfass and daughter Debbie, Mrs. Nevin Dorshimer and son George, and Mrs. James Thomas, of Snyder'sville and daughter Susie, motored to Asbury Park, N. J., one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Varney are spending sometime with their son in Albuquerque, N. M.

Sgt. Lawrence Adams A. 1, C, of Washington, D. C., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams, of Mellhaney.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Hamm attended the Warner Family reunion Saturday afternoon at Weir Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. David Frantz and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shupp and sons Barry, Craig and Rickey were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Singer.

Mrs. Varney's Sunday School class is working on their birthday calendars and would like to get as many names as possible before August 6. They would like to have them when they meet at the home of Martha Doney.

Sharon Mills, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Otto Mills, had the misfortune to cut her foot and is a patient in the General Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Dr. Theodore S. Itsu will be out of town July 23 to August 9, 1953. Office hours as usual, August 10, 1953.—Adv.

Woman Beats Son To Death

Chicago. (AP)—A mother who says her parents never spanked her was held for investigation Wednesday after police said she beat her frail 3-year-old son to death with a stick, cutting him from head to foot.

The victim was Peter Burowsky Jr. Police said he had been thrashed, tied up and left in a dark closet, and ten later tied to a hot water pipe in the bathroom where he died.

His mother, Veronica, 28, told reporters she struck young Peter with her hand and then with a wooden ironing board leg because he spilled drugs out of the medicine cabinet in the family's apartment.

don't "SIGN AWAY" your Life....

The sign at the crossroad said STOP—but the driver zoomed past it—and if the driver in the car on the main road had not swerved out of the way, another serious traffic accident would have happened. Next time, the careless driver may not be so lucky!

Time after time, some drivers will ignore traffic signs, and seem to be getting away with it. But the time comes when they pay the penalty with serious injury or their very lives.

Traffic signs are the code of highway safety. Years of special training and road knowledge have placed them where they can guide you to safe driving. They show you safe speed limits... crossroads... side roads... curves... hills and steep grades... narrow bridges... traffic lanes... railroad crossings... school zones... slow-up zones and complete STOPS.

For safety's sake—obey our traffic signs. Don't "sign away" your life by failing to follow them!

This message in the interest of highway safety is one of a series prepared and disseminated by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue.
